AERIAL VIEW SHOWS GOLDEN GATE NATIONAL CEMETERY in San Bruno. A part of National Cemetery System created during Civil War to provide for burial of soldiers killed in action, Golden Gate was opened in 1941. It will be full by next spring, officials predict. Once bordered by farms, Golden Gate is now surrounded by bustling city of San Bruno.

Golden Gate Cemetery Capacity Year Away

By DENIS WADE

By this time next year, Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno will have reached its capacity, according to Superintendent John T. Spelman.

In fact, the cemetery is already full. Nearly 86,000 servicemen, veterans, reservists, and dependents lie buried beneath its gently rolling lawns.

To extend the available area for graves, workmen are now busy tearing up roadways and moving fences to the extreme outer boundaries of the cemetery along Junpiero Serra Boulevard and Sneath Lane.

The 5,000 additional plots which are thus being created will probably be filled by sometime next spring, at the present rate of some 30 burials a day.

Golden Gate National Cemetery was established in 1941, when 60 of its 161.5 acres were developed. There were 490 burials that year, and the staff numbered 16.

In 1948, to meet the demands of repatriation of World War II dead, an additional 60 acres were developed to bring the total to 120.

The remainder of the land was opened in 1959 and 1962.

Today Spelman heads a staff which averages 70 people.

From 490 just 25 years ago, the number of burials climbed to 6,309 last year.

The bulk of those burials in recent years has been world War I veterans, according to the cemetery staff; now they are becoming fewer, and more survivors of World War II are shown on the rolls.

Casualties of Vietnam also account for a share of the processions which daily visit Golden Gate. Some 300 have so far been interred; many of them, says Spelman, had not reached their eighteenth birthday.

When the San Bruno cemetery runs out of plots, the steady stream of soldiers and veterans will stop. But even though the government has long since stopped allowing people to reserve space, there will continue to be burials at Golden Gate.

These will consist of surviving spouses or children of deceased servicemen, who may be buried in the same plot if previous arrangements have been made.

Likewise, servicemen who have already made commitments may be placed with already deceased members of their families.

A survey of the National Cemetery System was conducted in 1961 by the government. It revealed that more than 90 per cent of those interred in the 98 national cemeteries are now veterans and their dependents; less than ten per cent of the current burials are persons who died on active duty in the Armed forces or their relatives.

More than 40 million Americans, nearly one-fourth of the total population, are eligible for burial in national cemeteries, according to the Department of the Army.

The huge number of potential deceased persons eligible for burial is one reason President Kennedy issued an executive order in 1961 decreeing that there be no further expansion of the national cemetery system.

President Johnson has followed the policy.

Police at Pacifica Press Search For Purity Holdup Duo

Boy Questioned About $30,000 Fire in S. S. F.

Juvenile authorities are questioning a nine-year-old South San Francisco boy suspected of setting a fire that caused an estimated $30,000 damage to the Pink Elephant Super Market, 645 El Camino Real, South San Francisco. Acting Fire Chief A. R. Brauns said the 10:43 a.m. fire gutted an office and storage area at the rear of the store.

The blaze, confined to the back one-quarter of the frame and concrete block building, was touched off among boxes in a storage area and spread into the main structure.

South San Francisco police said the boy admitted he set boxes afire. An unidentified witness earlier said he saw the act.

Authorities said the youngster had gone to the storage area to get a cardboard box for his mother.

Brauns said that, though the blaze had the potential to sweep the entire building, firemen had the fire controlled in a matter of just five to seven minutes.

He commented that the 16 firemen and three officers responding did a "heck of a good job."

"I think they did a very good job in stopping it so soon," he said.

Smoke was pouring from the only window in the rear portion of the building when firemen arrived and the interior was aflame and "pretty warm," the chief said.

The store was open for business at the time, and the only casualty in the fire was to one employee who inhaled smoke.

Thief Just Walks Out With TV

South San Francisco police are still puzzled over the methods used to remove a color television set from the appliance section of the White Front at 180 El Camino Real during regular business hours Monday.

"The thief must have casually walked in during normal store hours, picked up the set and walked out the door," police technician Larry Ross told the Post.

The set, valued at more than $250, was on display with several other models, according to assistant store manager Leo T. Hogan.

It wasn't until Hogan was tallying up the day's sales that he noticed the set was missing.

Gunmen Get Over $5000

Nine Herded Into Freezer

Pacifica police continue to press their search for a pair of gunmen who held up the Purity Food Store in Pacifica's Linda Mar district last Saturday night and escaped with more than $5,000 after forcing nine employes into a walk-in freezer.

Manager Dave Cocchi told police inspector Paul Everiett the pair entered the store shortly before 10 p.m. and while one pushed a cart around, pretending to shop, the other asked for an employment application.

Both men stalled until all the store's customers had left at 10 p.m.

Grabbing Cocchi, the pair forced the remaining employes into the huge freezer at the rear of the building.

Shortly after entering, Cocchi was pulled out and ordered to open the safe. Before pushing him back into the freezer one of the men told him "Don't worry, you people won't freeze in there . . . we'll call the police on the way out."

Cocchi said the man warned him not to try to leave the freezer for "at least 10 minutes."

At the end of the prescribed time Cocchi opened the freezer door using the inside emergency release handle but the men were still in the store.

The pair forced Cocchi back inside the freezer and told him not to open the door for at least 20 minutes.

When Cocchi thought the men had left he ran from the freezer and called police.

Car Strikes Bike, Driver Is Arrested

A 48-year-old Pacifica laborer was arrested on felony drunk driving charges Monday following an accident in which his car struck an 11-year-old bicycle rider.

Pacifica police said the driver was John Peter Urnezis, 1295 Crespi Drive, Pacifica, who was booked at the South San Francisco jail.

The police said the Urnezis vehicle, eastbound on Crespi, struck the bike of Rodney J. White, 1331 Crespi Drive, at 2:30 p.m.

The youngster was on his bicycle, parked at the curb, on Crespi, near Manzanita, when struck and knocked over the curb onto the sidewalk.

The boy, police said, was treated by a private doctor for a cut on the forehead which took four stitches to close.

Urnezis was released on bail, which had been set at $1,500 cash or $3,000 bond.

Pacificans . . . Send in That Questionnaire

Pacifica's shopping habits are being surveyed by the Chamber of Commerce, in an effort to help the city's economy by keeping local cash at home.

Questionnaires, mailed to one out of 10 Pacifica families, are being returned by large numbers of residents, Chamber Manager Bernie Lake said today.

Lake asked those who have not yet filled out their questionnaires to please do so as soon as possible, to help provide enough data for a meaningful study.

Details of the survey appear inside today's Post.

Promise and Obligation: A 'Trap' for Councilmen At S.S.F. Over Blasting

Looking For A Way Out

The Problem Largely Rock

The South San Francisco City Council is trapped between a promise it collectively made and an obligation it must meet.

"We are looking for a way out," Mayor Frank Bertucelli said at Monday night's council meeting.

The promise was that no blasting — none whatsoever — would be allowed in construction of the Stonegate Ridge development on Sign Hill.

The obligation is to complete installation of utilities in the assessment district serving the hillside subdivision within a reasonable period of time.

The problem, as everyone now knows and some say they knew all along, is that Sign Hill is largely rock.

Lowrie Paving Company, which is preparing trenches for the first utilities, says it must use blasting methods to fracture rock in the trenches if the job is to be completed before the fall rains set in.

Director of Public Works Louis Goss substantiated the firm's stand, and agreed that the only conceivable alternate—jack hammers — would take too much time and money.

But residents of the surrounding neighborhood oppose the blasting, largely because of an irresponsible blasting incident several years ago.

Spokesman for most of the neighbors was Lucille Creamer, who identified herself as an officer of the Park Avenue Heights Homeowners Association.

"You, as councilmen have a bounden duty to reject this application," Mrs. Creamer said.

She expressed her group's

'Selective' Bandits Rob D.C. Motel

A pair of selective bandits robbed the Town Motel, 3211 Geneva Avenue in Daly City early yesterday morning, after passing up another motel just a few yards down the street.

Owner Harry Rhodifer, who was on duty at the Town Motel at the time, said the two had first gone to the Vinmar Motel to inquire about rooms, but left without incident.

Rhodifer said he suspects the men chose his motel instead because there were several more cars in the parking lot, indicating more cash in the till.

The owner said the men first asked about rates, and kept edging toward a glass cage in the office.

"If you don't mind, this is motel business," said Rhodifer.

"If you don't mind, this is my business," replied one of the bandits, pulling out a .38-caliber blue steel revolver.

Rhodifer said the gunman then gave him instructions to be quiet, reach for his keys, and turn over his money.

"Is this all?" the bandit asked. Rhodifer assured him the $75 in the till was indeed all.

He was then ordered to lie on the floor, and remain there for two minutes after the door closed. However, the robbers did not close the door, and Rhodifer cautiously peeked over the counter and found the men gone.

There was no sound of a car, he said, although one went by on Geneva Avenue at the moment the pair left.

The Consensus: Bruno Jail Site 'Unfortunate'

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The most "unfortunate" thing about San Francisco County Jail No. 2 is the fact that it's located in San Bruno. This was the consensus of city officials and residents interviewed by The Post earlier this week.

Asked if the medium-security jail presented any special problems for the local police force, Chief Russell Cunningham said "We have never considered the jail to be any problem."

"For the most part the inmates are not what one would call 'violent cases' and the few escapees have never bothered local residents," Chief Cunningham said.

The chief pointed out that homes adjacent to the jail have been constructed "only within the past two or three years.

"Certainly they (the homeowners) knew what was at their rear doorstep before they moved in," he said.

Recently several residents adjacent to the jail expressed fear escaping inmates might harm them or endanger their property.

Sheriff Matt Carberry told reporters during an interview last week that the jail had housed more than 35,000 over the past ten years. During this period an average of two escape attempts per year was experienced.

And while Carberry publicly minimized those fears of neigh-

D.C. Lawmen Hunt Hit, Run Driver

Daly City police are searching for a driver who jumped from his car and fled from the scene of a two-car accident Sunday.

The police said a car registered to a Daly City woman collided with an auto driven by Vincent L. Tarallo, 3500 Fleetwood, San Bruno, at the intersection of Santa Barbara and Hillcrest.

Following the crash, one of the drivers, not yet identified, fled south on Santa Barbara, leaving behind a passenger, Donna Cook, 19, who was treated at Mary's Help Hospital for a head injury and released.

The passenger did not know the driver, according to police reports.

The investigating officer, Patrolman W. Moeller, said the car from which the driver fled did not have adequate brakes.

concern that the sub-surface blasting, even if it does not present hazards from flying debris (engineers promise it will not), might do underground damage which could harm nearby houses.

And she underlined the fact that councilmen had promised no blasting when they approved initial plans for the development.

James Lowrie, president of the firm which has sub-contracted to do the trench excavation, asked the council for an opportunity to show everyone concerned exactly what the blasting would involve, by conducting a test at the site.

A test blast, he said, would prove that the work would attract "very, very little notice from anybody in the neighborhood."

Orville LeNoue, representing the engineering firm in charge of the job, agreed. "I don't think that these people will even know the blasting is being done," he said.

Goss explained that the process would involve the use of a number of very small charges, spaced very closely. This is known as "pin point" blasting, he said, adding, "There is no transmission of that blast to the surrounding area."

C. A. Magistretti, the explosives expert picked by Lowrie to handle the actual blasting, said the charges to be used "would not even break plaster within 11 feet of the hole."

"I don't think there's any chance of trouble if it's handled right," Magistretti declared. And he left little doubt that he intended to handle it right.

His credentials include a project now underway at the University of California's Berkeley campus, as well as numerous other recent jobs on the Peninsula and in San Francisco.

Magistretti declared that he has never had a complaint from residents near his work; and he said he has been in the business since 1922.

He agreed to provide the homeowners and the city with specific details about the proposed blasts, after which time the test blast would be set.

borhood residents, he asked the San Francisco Board of Supervisors this week for approval of a supplemental budget request for more than $55,800.

The money would be used to strengthen by seven men the jail's security, along with improving the rehabilitation program.

San Bruno Mayor Karney Barberian claims his city can do little about the jail.

"It's something that has been there quite a while and we have no control over it," Mayor Barbeian said. "Nor do we, at this time, anticipate any movement aimed at forcing the jail out of the area."

When the jail was established in 1934 it was far away from the city with few homes in the area. Within the past few years many homes have been constructed on two sides of the huge yellow structure.

To the rear of the jail is the San Francisco State Fish and Game Refuge, while extremely steep terrain borders the remaining side.

The fast-growing city of San Bruno derives no revenue—other than normal property taxes—from the jail.

The facility was originally designed to house 600 male and 48 female inmates and it is now some 50 inmates over capacity.

This week, a six-member team from the State Board of Corrections was expected to complete its fact-finding survey into conditions at the jail.

The survey was requested by the San Francisco Grand Jury.

Among the items the team will inspect are security, rehabilitation programs, food, general treatment of inmates, work projects and recent allegations some inmates were using narcotics inside the facility.

Golden Gate Capacity a Year Away

nation to appropriate the money necessary to buy new lands, with the result that 30 cemeteries are now filled to capacity.

Those include San Francisco National Cemetery at the Presidio, the closest facility to Golden Gate.

Fort Rosecrans National Cemetery at San Diego is expected to reach its capacity within the next few months.

That leaves Willamette National Cemetery in Portland the only other facility on the West Coast still accepting persons for burial.

The scattered locations of national cemeteries is another reason the expansion of the system has been decided against.

The 1961 study pointed out that 87 per cent of all burials occurred in nine installations located close to large metropolitan areas, and that 83 per cent of those interred had lived within 50 miles of the cemeteries. The study found this "inherently discriminatory against the large number of veterans who would be living in areas not conveniently accessible to national cemeteries."

So when Golden Gate National Cemetery is filled next year, there is practically no chance that it will be expanded or supplemented. Homes adjoin its northern border, and major streets abut the land on the other three sides, which would dictate a separate location in any case.

The alternative to burial in a national cemetery is private burial, which will now become a necessity for families who would otherwise use the government facilities.

In view of the "enormous cost" of furnishing burial services to the more than 40 million eligible, the government report deemed the payment of burial benefits such as provided by the Veterans' Administration and Social Security Administration "far preferable.'

Information regarding such benefits is available from the various government agencies, and facts on the remaining national cemetery facilities may be obtained from the superintendent of any one of them.

Pacifica Leaders To Road Session

A nine-member delegation of Pacificans was to meet with the State Highway Commission in Sacramento this afternoon, to plead the city's case for immediate construction of Route 186.

Pacifica is presently without a major east-west route to connect it with the Bay side of the Peninsula. Commuters must use one of the three narrow city streets which wind over the hills.

Truckers, who supply virtually all of the goods for the community, must drive all the way up the Peninsula and through San Francisco to reach the coastside city.

Mayor Harland Minshew will head today's delegation, along with Councilwoman Grace McCarthy and City Engineer Ken Thompson.

The Chamber of Commerce will be represented by six spokesmen including Manager Bernie Lake and Traffic Committee Chairman Charles Trifeletti.

The group will ask the commission to advance the beginning date for the east-west Route 186, which is presently scheduled for 1972.

The new highway would connect Pacifica with San Bruno, running from Highway 1 near Reina Del Mar Avenue to the Bayshore Freeway.

Trio Saves Lives Off Oyster Pt.

Three South San Francisco city employes were credited with saving the lives of three persons off Oyster Point Monday afternoon after their sailboat overturned.

City Harbor Master Don Fagundes said he noticed the trimaran craft overturned off Oyster Point as he was returning to the harbor from a meeting with other city officials.

Accompanied by assistant harbor master Ed Leahy and security guard Nick G. Cherolis, Fagundes sped to the distressed sailboat in the city's power launch.

The 16-foot trimaran, owned by Conrad Clayton of San Bruno, apparently overturned in heavy winds off the point, according to Fagundes.

Firm Is Rebuked By 'Neighbors'

Residents of South San Francisco's horseshoe-shaped Village Way were back on familiar territory Monday night: a serious complaint against the Arata Pontiac Company.

A delegation from the neighborhood, which is accessible only from Linden Avenue and is surrounded by commercial and industrial zoning, spoke before the City Council.

Previous groups of residents made at least four appearances before the council and planning commission this spring, in a successful effort to have an Arata application for an auto sales lot on their corner denied.

The company, however, has continued to display new automobiles on the lot.

A police department spokesman says some 30 citations have been issued to the firm or its employes for various violations, without apparent effect.

Most of this week's complaints centered on the dangers Arata autos present to Village Way children, who must walk past the company's property to get to school—or anywhere off their block.

Cars and trucks parked on sidewalks or driven across them are a serious hazard, parents agreed.

To the familiar charges were added new ones, which Mayor Frank Bertucelli directed City Manager Eugene Aiello to investigate.

Among the complaints is a charge that trash from a former service station now used by Arata to service rental cars is allowed to float into the street and collect in the gutter of Village Way, creating an unsightly and smelly mess.

Residents also charged that the firm's employes litter the street with trash from the canteen truck which serves them.

One woman, who said she had taken her complaints to Arata, reported that she and a group of women had been squirted with a hose.

Others said that employes had marked the curbing with "no parking" signs, and have gone so far as to push residents' cars out of the way so they could park there themselves.

Another neighbor testified that all 12 tires on her family's three cars had been deliberately punctured after she complained to Arata.

Aiello said he would look into the various complaints.

Council Sets Monument To Servicemen

South San Francisco servicemen who have fought and died in the service of their country will be honored with a monument, the city council decided Monday night.

The idea, originated by Tom Finnerty of Winston Manor, was proposed to the council by Mayor Frank Bertucelli.

The monument would be placed in front of the City Hall, to balance the statue of George Washington which presently stands there.

As planned, it would consist of a granite slab six feet high, with a bronze plaque

The names of those who have died in or as a result of wars and men who have served will be etched on the monument.

Final Screening Friday For L.A.S. Legal Chief

Final applications for the position of executive legal director of the soon-to-be-expanded program of the Legal Aid Society of San Mateo County will be reviewed by the board of directors this Friday evening, according to Society President Norman Kavanaugh.

Kavanaugh said the board of directors hopes to make its decision at the Friday night board meeting.

The San Mateo County society was recently awarded a federal OEO grant of $110,303 to expand legal aid to county indigents.

Under the expanded Legal Aid program, the executive legal director will have offices in Redwood City and will be responsible for the operation of four neighborhood law offices in San Mateo County. Three years of experience in the practice of law are required for the position.

Applications for three staff attorney assistants are also still being accepted, although their selection will be made with the concurrence of the legal director following his selection.

Full-time staff attorneys will be located in East Palo Alto-East Menlo Park and South San Francisco, while the third attorney will rotate offices in East San Mateo and on the Coastside.

ALL-STAR GAME NOTES: Last week we wrote that the poor "maligned" pitchers have actually been getting all the breaks, and the All-Star game that day made our hypothesis look good.

Now we have another theory. Besides all of the material things in their favor—the new big parks, lights, the slider and spitter—there is possibly a more subtle factor in the pitcher's domination of the game.

Today's pitchers, we believe, aren't as arrogant as they once were. The homerun ball has taught them that they can no longer get by with mere strength. They know now that they must do more thinking, and as a result are—like the modern weapon arsenal—more sophisticated.

HITTERS, on the other hand, still believe they can triumph by overpowering everything. Pitchers, in short, are no longer throwers but, indeed, pitchers true to their title. Hitters are still swingers.

We like Stan Musial and all, but somebody ought to take him out and give him communications lessons. Not only did he botch the name pronunciations of several players during introductory ceremonies before the game (he also pronounced San Francisco "Sa Frasisco), but about all he could think of saying (several times) during a post game interview was, "It was a well played game, it really was."

Detroit shortstop Dick McAuliffe's fron leg kick just before making contact with the ball resembles Mel Ott's classic unorthodoxy . . . until McAuliffe hits the ball.

Who says professional athletes are just in it for the money, that they go through the motions in an All Star game? Ted Williams dramatically proved that kind of thinking fallacious when he broke his arm chasing a fly ball in the 1950 game, and Sandy Koufax underscored the pro athlete's pride under any circumstances when he cursed himself properly for allowing the AL's only run on one of his rare wild pitches.

IT'S county fair time again, and that means fairground races, that segment of Americana which makes a lie of the notion of the city slicker taking the country bumpkin . . . or have you ever tried to beat those fairground nags on the tout of a farmer whose only interest in you is making the odds longer on his pick.

It's an interesting sociological flip-flop, because with there hardly being any country left, what we city fellas have created is a country slicker. "Bumpkin," incidentally, means awkward, not stupid.

Now we know how out-of-towners must have felt when they ran into John Marchbank when Daly City was still considered the country, and he owned, besides his DC gambling joints, Tanforan (which he eventually sold to Eugene Mori.) The rugged old gambler was a unique enough character to spawn the type of stories of which legends are made.

We have two favorites. One is about the time he reopened his gambling place in Daly City, the Great Northern. There were 200 guests that night who had $100 bills stuffed into their pockets by Marchbank himself as he toured the tables.

LATER, when champagne was being served, one of Marchbank's friends went around telling a few of HIS friends that "the old man" was going to come around again and pick up his century notes. Word, naturally, got around, and the place was deserted in minutes.

Another story concerns Tanforan. He gave a friend an envelope on the day of a big handicap and told him to open it just before post time.

Ten minutes before the horses broke from the gate Marchbank's friend ripped open the envelope and discovered a 50 cent piece with the notation, "If you want to make a bet, put up the other dollar and a half."

NOTES FROM S.F. STATE: Former Terra Nova baseball and basketball star Jack Bresnahan widened his athletic horizons on July 4 when he sunk a hole-in-one with a seven iron on the 123-yard second hole at Golden Gate golf cours.and Jack, S.F. State sophomore who pitched and played center for the Gator frosh baseball and basketball teams, isn't even out for golf. his witnesses were former TN footballer Tony Salvemini, on leave from the Marines, and course pro Charley Skinner.

Jack's brother, Bud, an infielder when he was at TN and now headed for his senior year as a Gator picket, will teach history and P.E. when he graduates. The youngest brother, Jim, is also an outstanding baseball and basketball player at TN.

MILT AXT, the San Francisco baseball coach who annually instructs at Terra Nova's North County Baseball School, recently signed Gator Bob Cavalli to a Red Sox contract as a pitcher, and there's a story in that.

For years Cavalli, a shortstop as his dad, Johnny, had been with the old Seals, had been telling coach Bob Rodrigo he was a pitcher, and last year Rodrigo gave the rifle-armed youngster an unsuccessful shot. This last season, however, was something else. He's still rough around the edges. In one game at Santa Clara he struck out 15, walked 14, and threw 211 pitches. But he may have been right. He just could be a pitcher.

Teammate Marty Coil, a first baseman, is rumored to be a future Giant hopeful. Another former TN Tiger, Coil's always had the power, but this year he hit .340 to go with it.

ANOTHER of those high school sweetheart romances culminated in matrimony last week when Dennis Caruthers married Anita DeMidovich.

Dennis, who was voted Terra Nova's Outstanding Athlete after four years of football (he was an All-NPL fullback), baseball, basketball and track), first noticed Anita on the football field, when she was a pompon girl. Needless to say, she also noticed Dennis.

Even when he was awarded an athletic scholarship to George Fox College in Oregon and she went to CSM, nothing changed. He went on leading the team in ground gaining and she became the first Coastside girl ever to be a CSM pompon girl.

Athletics are wonderful.

We keep reading in Pacifica gossip columns about how Councilman James Fox and comedian Jonathan Winters are always fishing together, but nobody ever mentions about how Winters was once a good pitching prospect, which explains how he makes his baseball pitcher pantomime routine so realistic.

TAG-END: The White Sox, in seventh place, but with the leading pitching staff in the AL; St. Louis, in sixth place but with pitching second only to LA; and Pittsburgh, in second place with great hitting and no pitching, are all ganging up to disprove some theory or other.

Summer Program Moves Midpoint at D.C. Parks

As the Daly City Recreation Department's summer program moves toward its mid-point, local playground activities are featuring tournaments, cook-outs, and a variety of sports events. This week's special event, a trip to historic Mount Tamalpais in Marin County, includes hiking, nature study and a watermelon feed. A roundup of activities at city and school playgrounds includes:

Northridge Park

Northridge Park has been the scene of great competition this week, under the supervision of Harriet Neustadt. The summer's first contest winners were Steve Browne in checkers and Mark Parsons in ring-a-tac-toe. Some of the special events at Northridge will include a san castle building contest and a pet show, to be held later in the summer.

Tomorrow another barbecue is planned. Children should bring their own hot dogs. The leading chess player at this point is Ken Phelps. Trying to checkmate Ken are Leo and Joey Bidermann. Paddle pool leaders are Shon Spence, the Brown family, the Parson family and many more.

Midway School

Midway School held one special event last week, the two-day relay races, which took place on Wednesday, July 13 and Friday, July 15. Outstanding in these race were Rickie Turnbull, Mike Devault, Patrick Miller, Penny Turnbull, Patty Devault, Cindy Griffin and Joey Devault. Results of Midway's ping pong and paddle pool tournaments, held on July 8 were: first place in paddle pool went to Brenda Lawson, second place Mark Davis, third place Ike Allmond.

In ping pong, in the 10-13 age group, first place went to Danny Hughes, second place Johnny Wong, third place Ed Fontes. In the 14-17 age group first place went to Kenny Reitz, second place Frank Orlandi, third place Mike Trujillo. Kenny Reitz defeated Danny Hughes two out of three games to win the over-all ping pong championship. Thirty children participated in these tournaments. Coming events for Midway are a doll show today and a two-man strikeout tournament on Friday, July 22.

Lincoln Park

As the summer season progresses, so does the active summer program at Lincoln Park. After determining the park's prospective carrom and ping pong champs, Lincoln Park is pleased to announced new champions in a new field. The event is bicycle slalom, which was held for the first time last week. A short, but very winding course was set up on the playground and the whole group had a go at it.

Each contestant was allowed two runs, and the best time was taken as his final one. First place in the event went to Julie Lacayo, with Tony Chavez and Rich Martinez taking second and third places respectively. To make the event completely fair, each contestant had his choice of bikes.

The early leader in the event was Miguel Sandino, who had to leave after only one try. As a result, Miguel finished in a tie for fifth place with Andy (Cooper) Driscoll. In another department, Lincoln Park is expected to fare very well in the inter-playground softball league, which gets under way this week. With Armando Sandino out of action with a bad finger, and Andy Driscoll out of town on vacation, the team is relying on the big bats of Rich Martinez, Darrall Kelley, and Tony Chavez.

Help in all departments is expected from Carlos Sandino, Kenny Danridge, and hopefully, Ira Fern. Two good prospects who cannot be overlooked are Stan Radiotes and Chris Valcazar.

Westlake School

Last week's ping pong tournament at Westlake School saw Marcus Kounalakis take first place in the 7-9 age group, followed by Skip Watson. In the 10-12 bracket, first place went to Louis Hudson, while Frank Damante took second place honors. Mike Dikas breezed into the top spot in the 13 and over group, and second place went to Mike McVay. Patty Murray emerged as girls champion. Other participants in the tournament include Ronnie Cipro, Charlie McVay, Bob Ailes, Larry Ross and Billy Verducci.

Paddle pool competition saw Kent Carrillo take top honors, followed by Steve Doberstein in second place. Checker champions are Marcus Kounalakis, first, and Charlie McVay, second place.

Vista Grande

With the summer recreation program at Vista Grande School now in its fifth week, recreation leader Vikki Sarioti has planned a picnic and barbecue. Last week's carrom tournament was won by Joey Grech. In ping pont this week, Jeannie Fierce beat Bill O'Toole, former champion. Plans for Erection of an 'Airport City' Monument in San Bruno Are Disclosed

Chamber of Commerce manager Dick King this week revealed plans to erect a stone monument at the junction of San Bruno and San Mateo Avenues, proclaiming San Bruno "The Airport City."

At least twenty flags—depicting the country of origin of the airline operating from San Francisco International Airport—will border the triangular-shaped monument.

The monument is only the first phase of a vigorous city-wide beautification program being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

The program calls for an all-out effort on the part of the city's merchants and citizens to beautify the area through elimination of various "eyesores," King said.

"Our objective is to include all of San Bruno in this beautification program—a community project. The initial effort is being concentrated at the junction of San Bruno and San Mateo Avenues because that's the gateway to our city," King told The Times.

The Chamber hopes to create pubblic interest and support for the project because "you cannot have a complete and successful improvement program without the co-operation and participation of everyone in every section of the city," King said.

Other approaches to the city will also come under the scrutiny of the Chamber in the near future, King promised.

A picture slide presentation titled "Beauty and the Beast" and starring the city's 1966 beauty queen, Joann Aguilar, was recently made showing various contrasts between the lovely Miss San Bruno and various "blighted" areas throughout the city.

Chamber president Bill Schneider said mayor Karney Barberian and the city council have thus far supported the program "100 per cent" and he thanked them for the generous financial support they have thus far given the project.

Last week the city council unanimously approved a chamber request for $3,000 needed to publish a brochure depicting the city's attractions for both business and residents.

The program is actually aimed at the small beautification needs—the cutting of weeds, painting of faded fences and the removal of man-made eyesores, King said.

"The cleanup of every nook and corner in all parts of the city is an important to this program as the beautification of the civic plaza," King said. "These projects are interrelated . . . you cannot have a complete and successful program without the co-operation and participation of everyone in every section of the city."

The chamber is currently negotiating with the PG&E and Southern Pacific Railroad Company to replace faded signs and remove power poles in sections of the city..

"Both these agencies have been very co-operative," King said. "We are realistic enough to understand that these things cannot be accomplished overnight."

He said the chamber has made its most important move in the city-wide beautification program by "getting the show on the road."

"Whatever we do will be an improvement over the mess that is there now," King pointed out.

Sound Abatement Center Award to Bruno Chamber

In relatively "quiet" ceremonies this week San Bruno Mayor Karney Barberian presented an appreciation award to the Chamber of Commerce for their contribution toward making "Aviation Appreciation Week" a success.

Ironically, the resolution was from the San Francisco International Airport Sound Abatement Center and the "quiet" was a result of the absence of jetliners flying overhead caused by the union walkout.

The resolution read:

"In appreciation to the city of San Bruno and the Chamber of Commerce, an expression of our admiration and thanks for Aviation Appreciation Week . . . an outstanding demonstration of civic cooperation on behalf of our industry . . . with our sincere congratulations . . ."

Five officials of the Sound Abatement Center signed the resolution.

San Bruno, the city that proudly professes to be only four minutes "plus flying time" to any city in the world, saluted the international airport during week-long celebrations last May 15-21 with proclamations and other special events.

Nevada Senator Howard W. Cannon, a member of the Armed Services Committee on Aeronautical and Space Sciences, spoke at a banquet sponsored by the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce during Aviation Week festivities.

San Bruno Chamber of Commerce manager Dick King, whose efforts were mainly responsible for spearheading the Aviation Week program, asks: "Where would we (San Bruno) be without the airport?"

King points out that the airport is responsible for generating the area's economy to new highs each year.

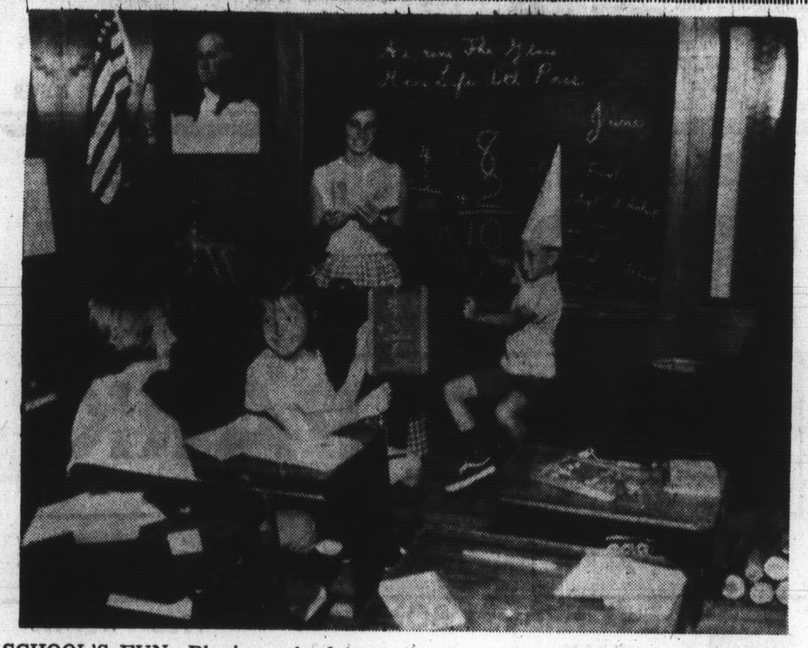
A fact sheet reveals that San Francisco, various airlines operating from the airport, and tenant organizations have already invested more than $210,000,000 at the airport — plus an additional $6,000,000, principally for ticket sales and administrative facilities.

Merchants in San Bruno also share in the whopping $200,000,000 gross annual payroll of the local aviation industry, King said.

Under the experienced guidance of King the Chamber is already planning next year's Aviation Week program.

"The 1967 Aviation Appreciation Week celebrations will be bigger and better," King said last week.

In cooperation with representative foreign governments presently operating airlines from the airport, the Chamber expects to have various trade exhibits and an international trade festival as part of the program.



SCHOOL'S FUN—Playing school in authentic old-time School House Museum at Frontier Village amusement park, San Jose, is fun for Patricia Mysel, 12, of 836 Eighty-seventh Street, Daly City, and Susan Randall, 12, and Thomas Randall, 8, of 335 El Dorado Drive, Daly City. Play teacher is Toni Thul of San Jose. The $2-million, 32-acre park, with Western-style rides, activities, sights and free picnic areas, is open daily from 10 a.m. during summer.

Merchants Plan For Christmas

Christmas in July may be far from the minds of most people, but a group of San Bruno merchants has been busy preparing for the holiday season.

Brand new Christmas decorations have been purchased by the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce for the downtown shopping area.

Each of San Mateo Avenue's 35 light poles will have either a Santa Claus or a lantern with stained glass sides.

Garlands with colored lights will criss-cross the street.

The decorations will replace the ten-year-old trimmings which chamber Manager Dick King described charitably as "dilapidated."

The new decorations, said King, "are of the latest design and should give years of excellent service."

They are designed to hold wind damage to a minimum, he noted.

The entire cost of the decorations will be borne by the merchants of San Mateo Avenue.

Members of the selection committee were Tom Palmer, Monte DeLong and Leonard Frost.

Serramonte Recreation And Parks Session Set Tonight

A new section of Serramonte, the huge housing tract in Daly City, will be the subject of an adjourned session of the planning commission tonight.

Planning Commissioners last week delayed action on a tentative map for development of the new section, to give themselves an opportunity to meet with the city's park and recreation commissioners.

The planners, faced with the question of parks, recreation facilities and open space in the new subdivision, asked Planner Ed Wawson to invite members of the park and recreation commission to attend and make their views known.

The goal of the meeting is to determine just how to go about planning parks in the development, using past experience of the recreation commissioners as a guide.

Among the subjects which may be discussed is joint location of parks and school sites, to provide a maximum of use at minimum cost.

The South San Francisco Unified School District, which serves much of Serramonte, has expressed its desire to see such adjacent location of facilities.

Planning Commission discussion of the subdivision map was delayed two weeks, until after the adjourned meeting.

Death

ELVIRA CHAPMAN

Mrs. Elvira Chapman, 65, a native of Sweden, died on July 16.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at the San Bruno Funeral Home. Interment followed at Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

Trustees Seat Lyal Ingersol

Jefferson Union High School District trustees last week seated Lyal Ingersol as chairman in new fiscal year board reorganization.

Ingersol succeeds Elio Fontana.

James Cooper was renamed vice-chairman and Trustee representative, while Ray Milton Ingersol as board clerk.

Louanne's Datebook

By LOUANNE HEATH

SUMMER IS a very good time to meet interesting people and become acquainted with the work and activities of others, via this newspaper, but lest we forget the organizations, let's take one week out to bring you up to date on what is happening.

The Westlake Senior Citizens took time out from their busy summer agenda of trips and picnics to hold elections recently.

Mrs. Bea Batz was again elected president and she will be assisted by Mrs. Marguerite Murphy, vice president; Mrs. Lyn Humphres, secretary; and Willard Wagne, treasurer. Members of the ways and means committee are Mrs. Wilma Getchell, Mrs. Jane Nolan and Mrs. Marie King.

In case you are dubious about the fact that the members of this over-50 years-of-age club lead busy lives consider the following schedule for the summer. On June 22, 45 club members boarded a chartered bus and went to the Senior Citizens Annual Picnic held at Samuel Taylor Park. The group left the Weslake Community Baptist Church at 9 a.m. for the park where they enjoyed games and luncheon before starting the homeward trek at 4:30 p.m.

The following Tuesday the membership was again boarding a bus, this time headed for the Sunset Gardens in Menlo Park and for a tour of the Sunset Magazine Publishing Plant. From Menlo Park they continued south to San Martin where they toured the San Martin Winery. With the bus now headed north, they wound up the day with a tour of the San Francisco airport.

The very next day the ladies and gentlemen of the club were gathered in the social hall of the Westlake Baptist Church to see the P.G. and E. film, The Redwood Empire.

Despite all the activity the members are still ready for more trips and on tap is a visit to Big Basin, a tour of the Capitola Begonia Gardens, a visit to the Santa Cruz art gallery, a picnic on Angel Island, the annual bazaar and the annual club dinner! As for me, anyone care for a fast game of checkers?

Employees' Group Names Delegates

Laguna Salada Chapter 28, of the 33,315-member California School Employees Association, has elected two delegates to he Association's Fortieth Annual Conference, August 2-6, at the Hilton Hotel in San Francisco.

The delegates representing the Chapter's 110 members are Joe Walker, delegate, custodian; Mrs. Alpha Jaranson, delegate, custodian, and Larry Aarreberg, alternate, custodian.

Rung Hasselgren, president of the local chapter, and chairman of the maintenance section, said the delegates will join more than 800 other delegates from throughout California in electing State Officers for the 1966-67 school year, adopting an Association budge in excess of $600,000 and acting upon over 30 resolutions and legislative proposals.

CSEA, he said, is the voice and representative of all classified personnel in the State's school districts and is made up of over 400 chapters. Employees represented are maintenance men, bus drivers, gardeners, custodians, cafeteria personnel, secretaries, and classified administrators. "The Association is the voice of the classified school employee before local school boards, the State legislature, and all other governmental bodies," Hasselgren declared.

Hasselgren, a maintenance supervisor at the Laguna Salada Union School District, indicated that other important items on the Conference Agenda include: a proposal to raise members' dues from $15 to $21 per year a move to limit state presidents to one-year terms, and a measure to establish a $1.75 million building fund to meet the Association's future needs.

Teen Drama Workshop Plans Play

The Daly City Teen Drama Workshop, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation, Department, has announced its summer production, Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland."

Class For Mothers Again Set

A child observation class for mothers of pre-schoolers was a "first" for the South San Francisco Unified School District this past year.

The class was conducted by Mrs. Dorothy Seekamp and plans for its continuation in the next fall semester are now being prepared.

These classes were held at South San Francisco High School two days a week either on Monday or Wednesday, or Tuesday and Thursday, roughly divided by the ages of children involved. Mothers stayed for the full time and either wrote an observation of trieh children or some other child or helped with different activities of children.

The mothers were enrolled in the class not the child.

Class times next year will be from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. There will be a time either before and after the classes for conferences.

For the child in these classes Mrs. Seekamp reports there is free time to choose activities from a well-equipped play room.

Baton Twirling, Cheerleading Classes Added

Because of heavy demand, an additional baton twirling and cheerleading class has been added to the Daly City Summer Recreation program.

The originally scheduled social and folk dance session at Lincoln Park will be divided into two sections.

On Friday, from 12:30 to 1:15 p.m., the children will have the opportunity to learn the bat of well-known twiler Margie Schultz.

This will be followed by the regular dance program from 1:15 to 2 p.m. There is no charge for either class.

Girls should supply their own batons, though limited number will be available.

Scenery Design, Construction Class Offered

Practical experience in scenery design and construction is being offered to the youngsters in the Creative Art Class, conducted as part of the Daly City Recreation Department's summer program at Westmoor High School on Thursday and Friday from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

Under direction of Art Specialist Marge Elliott and Teen Drama Workshop Director David Regal, the program offers the more advanced child and the older child an opportunity for creative art expression.

The group is currently working on the set designs for the Teen Drama production, "Alice in Wonderland."

The price includes bus transportation, insurance and discount ride tickets.

Club members and guests are reminded that permission slips and a 50 cent deposit must be turned in to the recreation leader at Westmoor Park by July 21.

Former Pacifica Girls Returning for Conclave

Marsha and Marilyn Zwiep, formerly of Pacifica, now serving on special Bible teaching assignments for Jehovah's Witnesses in Longmont, Colo., while visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Zweip, 496 Ebken Street, Pacifica, will see many of their friends in the area when they attend the district convention of Jehovah's Witnesses, August 3-7, at Candlestick Park.

Marsha, a former honor student at Terra Nova High School, expressed the sisters' enthusiasm for their assignment, with, "We are in a small congregation of just over 50 persons, but it is a lively and active group. The first month we were there, I started five family Bible studies with people in the community. Everyone is so receptive to the idea of learning more about God's purpose through family Bible study."

Marilyn, a 1965 graduate of Terra Nova, commented on the different type of territory their new congregation covers.

"In and around Longmont, it is very much like many average-size towns in California, but just a few miles to ttne north one immediately begins climbing into high mountain country."

A great deal of the territory there is rural she noted, "and it is sometimes a long distance between houses—however, the people are very friendly and seem to appreciate that our efforts to encourage and assist in home Bible study is a service to the spiritual needs of the community."

The Candlestick Park convention will be similar to one held there by the Witnesses in 1961 when the peak attendance reached 50,000. This time more than 55,000 are expected from all 50 states and several foreign countries. So far, delegates are coming from Canada, Mexico, England, and Holland.

Sugar... 'n' Spice

By NELL NORTON

IS IT TRUE that "there is nothing new under the sun?" I'm not too much inclined to argue with the old sayings, but what with the pictures live from the moon and non-stick pans, I wonder?

In the recipe business there seems to be little really new under the broiler, in the oven or in the frying pan. Even the most unique recipe often turns out to be just a variation on a basic theme. So it's really a pleasure to find something that seems to be completely new to try and to pass on to you good cooks.

Possibly this recipe that I think is so unusual is one that you've used for years or is just like one your neighbor has. I had heard about this pie quite some time ago but never had the recipe. And even when I got the recipe I was a bit skeptical. Who ever heard of apple-less apple pie? Or boiling crackers in syrup? Impossible.

WELL, GOOD cooks and gentle readers, it's possible. And it's delicious. You won't believe it until you try it.

APPLE-LESS PIE

2 cups water
1 cup sugar
1 teas. cinnamon
2 teas. cream of tarter
21 round crackers
¼ teas. nutmeg

Your favorite pie crust Recipe

Combine water sugar and cream of tarter, bring to a boil; add spices. Drop crackers into mixture. DO NO STIR. Bring to a slow boil and boil exactly 2 minutes. Pour immediately into unbaked 8-inch pie crust. Dot with butter and apply top crust. Bake at 450-degrees for 10 minutes; reduce heat to 350-degrees and bake until done, from three-fourths to one hour in all.

I AM GRATEFUL to the mothers who contributed recipes to the cookbook put out by St. Raphael's School in San Raphael, for both of the recipes that appear in the column today. The apple-pie—without apples was contributed by Mrs. Diego. Mrs. Rosemary O'Connor created this clam dish, and she can be proud of her orginality.

As I have often mentioned, my family are great mushroom eaters, (with the exception of the youngest, who carefully lifts out each mushroom and sets it to the side of her plate), so I increased the amount of mushrooms. Instead of the canned variety, I used fresh mushrooms, and I wasn't a bit skimpy with them, using one-half pound.

CLAMS GOURMET

½ lb. small shell macaroni
6 green onions, minced
¼ cup salad oil
1 can sliced mushrooms, 8 oz.
¼ cup chopped fresh parsley
1 can minced clams
4 Tbsp. sour cream
salt and pepper

Cook macaroni 9 minutes in boiling water. Drain. While it is cooking, brown onions in salad oil along with mushrooms. Add parsley, clams and clam broth, sour cream and simmer five minutes. Season to taste. Stir macaroni into clam mixture, stir well and heat through. Serves 4.

St. Paul's Bible Class Is Started

The annual vacation church school of St. Paul's Methodist Church, South San Francisco, started this week, to run from 1 to 3:30 p.m. through July 29.

The pastor, the Rev. Robert A. Lundy, said co-chairmen for the school this year are Mrs. Aldo Minucciani and Mrs. James Schwirian.

Assisting on the faculty will be Mrs. Jack Harris and Shelley Bartell (kindergarten teachers) Mrs. Ed Erdman and Beth Soltis (first and second grade teachers) Mrs. J. Howard and Patty Mann (third and fourth grade teachers) Mrs. L. T. Bartell Jr., sixth grade teacher.

Mrs. Walter Brill will again have charge of the "snacks" prepared in the church kitchen. Mrs. J. A. Harrison will be at the organ while the Rev. R. A. Lundy supervises a half hour of worship. Mrs. Eva Peltier will work with arts and crafts groups. Recreation will be conducted by college students.

Special offerings will be used to promote Methodist television. Offerings the second week will support mission projects of an "advance special" nature, over and above the church's regular benevolence contributions. All children from 4 years nine months through sixth grade are welcome to attend.

Substitute Choir Leader

Jack Butler is substituting as choir director during the vacation time of Ralph Bredenberg at the First Baptist Church of San Bruno.

Butler is a graduate of the University of California and Berkeley of Seminary. During his enrollment at Berkeley Seminary he traveled with the quartet.

Bredenberg, along with his wife and son, leave this coming week to attend a music conference at Glorietta, N.M. The conference is in the form of a workshop where choir directors congregate from all over the United States.

Guest Pastor To Speak To Lutherans

The Rev. Dr. J. George Dorn, guest at Westlake Lutheran Church this Sunday, will have as his sermon subject, "The World's Ceaseless Litany."

Dr. Dorn, preaching at the 11 a.m. worship service, is pastor Emeritus of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, San Francisco, where he was pastor for over 15 years.

He also has been pastor of the Hollywood Lutheran Church, Hollywood, for 16 years. While there he preached the Easter Sunrise sermon in the famous Hollywood Bowl five times. Dr. Dorn is listed in Who's Who.

For the past five years he has served as chaplain with the Holland-American Line to the West Indies. This fall he and Mrs. Dorn will cruise to Japan, Indonesia, Australia, New Zealand, Fiji Islands, Tahiti, and Samoa.

At 9:30 a.m. a special family hour of worship and study is being held. Following the opening worship there will be Sunday School classes for the children and a discussian forum on "Barriers to Christian Faith" for adults. Child care is provided at both services.

First Pastor Will Speak

Sunday worship services at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377-87th Street, Daly City, will be led by the Rev. John A. Glasse, the organizing minister and pastor for nine years.

A "Friendly Coffee Time" will follow the service, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Glasse.

Sunday School will be at 10 a.m. There is no class during the summer schedule for junior highers and high schoolers. Infant care is provided during the service.

The Rev. Herbert C. Tweedie is pastor.

Visitors' Event Winners Told

Even though the loyalty program at Bethel Church of Pacifica is over and with it the new visitors' contest, the attraction of the Hover Craft ride or airplane ride still looms for contest winners.

To qualify for the contest, the young people had to take at least three new visitors.

Although there was much competition there was only one winner, Miss Susan Banning, who won a trip for herself and her teacher, Mrs. Betty Brown.

The members of the youth class brought enough visitors to win a ride for their teacher, John Canales, but did not have an individual winner.

Donnie Amrine was runner-up to Susan in the children's department and Howard Danielsen was runner up to Mrs. Brown.

Sunday School Supt. Richard Brown announced there is a new member in the Crade Roll Class, born to Mr. and Mrs. Moody Graves.

Pacifica's Chamber Starts New Term With Individual Members' Project Ideas

The Pacifica Chamber of Commerce last Thursday launched a sort of do-it-yourself program to determine major projects that should be undertaken.

Meeting at the Long Table for the first time under its new president, Pacifica Wells Fargo Bank Manger Lyle Planje, the Chamber members compiled lists of suggested activities.

Planje explained the proposals would be summarized and a questionnaire sent to members, who will be asked to indicate five preferences, in order of importance to them.

The chamber's board of directors will add other possible activities to the list.

Members attending the noon luncheon had been especially seated, six to a table. Planje asked each person determine the "most important thing the Chamber can do for you this year." Suggestions were listed in order of importance by the members at each table.

When that chore was completed, Planje noted:

"As you can see, your board of directors now has the start of a work program for the coming year."

However, the questionnaire will not stop at project determination.

It will include, Planje, noted, room for general suggestions concerning the Chamber, and space for committee participation preferences.

"Only by making your wishes known can we do the job you want done," Planje pointed out.

He urged full participation on the various committees.

"You will be working on something that is important and that you are interested in, perhaps even your own idea," he explained.

"You will be working with other members of the community who you will get to know better ... and you will find that we have some pretty nice people in our town," he declared.

He hoped the membership would co-operate fully with the chamber's board.

"Give it a try," he asked. "I think you will enjoy it ... there is great pleasure in seeing an idea started, working with others until it is perfected—and then its final accomplishment—knowing that along with others you made it happen."

The Pacifica Chamber has 99 members; it's shooting for 150, Planje said.

He urged dues be paid.

"We are talking about less than 13 cents a day for most of you," the new president noted," to maintain an office with two employees and about 50 committee workers to do a job for you for the coming year."

He thought that "based on last year's accomplishments and this year's projects," the dues structure "is justified."

Landscaping At Bethany Church Yard

The Crestmoor Garden Center, San Bruno, is now completing landscaping of Bethany Presbyterian Church grounds, the last part of a three-phase project including paving of the parking area and the installation of a sprinkler system. Mercury vapor lamps, operating from dusk to dawn, were also recently installed on the utility poles in the parking areas.

The church, which will observe its tenth anniversary this fall, serves Presbyterians in South San Francisco, San Bruno and north Millbrae. Dr. Roy W. Peyton is the minister. Services during the summer months are held at 10 a.m. with simultaneous church school classes for children through the third grade.

A vacation church school is scheduled for the middle of August, with Mrs. Marshall Cunningham as director. Registrations are now being made.

Fassler Is Named To Committee

San Mateo County Supervisor Jean Fassler, already a member of the President's Committee on Recreation and Natural Beauty and actively involved in scenic planning on San Mateo County's Regional Planning Committee, was appointed to serve on the Natural Resources Committee of the National Association of Counties.

NACO President W. W. Dumas announced that the committee would meet in conjunction with the Regional Problems Congress at the Hotel Jung in New Orleans July 17 to 20.

2 Vandalism Arrests In South S.F.

Monetary Loss Story on Page 13

Two young South San Francisco boys have been arrested and charged with recent vandalism to three schools which authorities estimate may total several thousand dollars.

Detective Ted Silvas took the pair into custody after an intensive investigation of destruction at Buri Buri, Alta Loma and Serra Vista schools.

One youth has admitted he is responsible for the vandalism, Silvas said, and has implicated the other.

They are 12 and 13 years old.

Although the second boy has denied his part in the wrecking of the schools, police say laboratory evidence solidly implicates them both.

The youths are apparently not involved in vandalism at three additional South San Francisco schools over the weekend.

The three schools they are accused of wrecking, however, were subjected to such destruction that even police officers and school authorities hardened to petty vandalism found it hard to believe.

Plumbing fixtures had been ripped from their mountings, flooding floors. Paints and glue had been dumped on the floors, to mix with the water and harden.

Windows were broken throughout the schools.

A sharp instrument had been used to scrawl obscenities across chalk boards and desk tops.

Virtually all of the athletic equipment at the school had been ruined, except some which was stolen. Officers said it was recovered with the two arrests.

Small fires had been set at Alta Loma School, both in the restrooms and in the gymnasium.

Silvas said the one boy who admitted his part in the destruction was unable to give any reason for his acts.

Both boys, he added, come from "good homes" and appear to have everything they could want.

Both had attended one of the wrecked schools.

Police released the two to their parents after citing them to appear before juvenile authorities. Officers said the parents will probably be held responsible for damages, and would likely be required to repay the school district for repairing and replacing the wrecked buildings, furniture and equipment.

There'll Be No Sleeping Tomorrow for Miss D.C.

VIVIAN REIGER

Vivian Reiger, the honey-blonde and blue-eyed high school senior who was recently named Miss Daly City, is not easily flustered.

She proved it during competition which won her the Daly City crown and the right to compete in the Fiesta Dream Girl pageant, July 21. The Dream Girl will reign over the Fair and Fiesta, August 5-13.

Tired after the rounds of appearances before judges, Vivan decided to catch a few winks of sleep backstage, while the judges deliberated.

"I really didn't expect to win," Vivian said, and so she slept. The new Miss Daly City was understandably embarrassed when a friend had to awaken her with the news that she had just been selected the winner!

But the 17-year-old co-ed quickly recovered her poise for an appearance on stage.

Vivian stands 5'8", weighs 127 pounds and measures 36-24-36. Her interest in high school drama activities led her to the Miss Daly City contest, which she felt would give her added poise before large audiences. Her summertime interests include water skiing, tennis and swimming.

Vivian looks forward to the Dream Girl competition with growing excitement, and she feels certain that there will be no sleeping backstage tomorrow!

Queenly Activities 'The Thing' for Miss Troy

Candy Troy is a pretty Pacifica miss who listened to some good advice and now reigns as Miss Pacifica, representing her city in the 1966 San Mateo Fair and Floral Fiesta "Dream Girl" contest.

Blonde-haired and hazel-eyed Candy met the queen of the Sonoma County Fair last year, while touring the fairgrounds. "After hearing about all the exciting experiences she was having, I decided that this was definitely the thing for me," Candy said.

Candy's determination was equal to her good looks and charming personality. She not only entered the Miss Pacifica contest, but sold the most tickets to that event, winning a $25 U.S. Savings Bond for her efforts!

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer G. Troy, were so pleased with her success that they presented her with professional modeling lessons as a high school graduation present, allowing her to pursue a career as a high fashion model.

During the summer, Candy plans to help out her dad in his office and to put her trained horse through trick maneuvers in her spare time.

CANDY TROY

Cash Taken From Store

Three unidentified juveniles are suspected of breaking into the Dart Raceways store, 280 El Camino Real, and taking more than $119 in cash from the register, plus several model cars.

Owner Donald M. Howard told San Bruno police the theft occurred while he was having his supper at a nearby restaurant.

A witness told police three youths were seen hurrying away from the store at about the time of the robbery.

Police are continuing their investigation.

Pacifica Man Is Promoted

Robert J. Welter, son of Mrs. Matilda Welter, 1151 De Salo, Pacifica, was promoted to Army Specialist Four, June 22, while serving with the 568th Mediacl Caompany in Viet Nam.

Specialist four is an enlisted rank equivalent to the rank of corporal.

The 19-year-old soldier, a cook in the company near Nha Trang, entered the Army in July 1964.

D.C. Youth Arrested After Crash

An 18-year-old Daly City apprentice vulcanizer, Robert Alex MacDonald, of 9 Paul Street, was arrested by Daly City police early last Friday following a high-speed chase and a footrace.

Patrolman Roger Austin's police car was heavily damaged when it collided with the vehicle—reportedly stolen earlier in South San Francisco—driven by MacDonald at the intersection of Market Street and Hillsdale Boulevard at 2:30 a.m.

MacDonald was booked on a car theft charge.

Patrolman Austin said he first saw the car driven by MacDonald at Gambetta and Hillsdale as it assertedly failed to stop at a red light. Austin pursued, with speeds up to 80 miles an hour, police reported.

The accident occurred when MacDonald reached Market Street and suddenly applied the car brakes. Austin said he also braked, but was unable to avoid the crash. The suspect's car spun onto Market Street, while the patrol car stopped on Hillside.

MacDonald, the police said, fled on foot east on Market, to Wyandotte, north on Wyandotte to Theresa, then west. Austin caught up with him at Hillside and Theresa.

The car driven by MacDonald reportedly was not badly damaged. Police said it was owned by Billie Jo McClain, 1044 Grand Avenue, South San Francisco.

Accident Victim 'Good'

Graham Robert Knox, Jr., 20, 1312 Skyline Drive, Burlingame, was listed in "good condition" at Mary's Help Hospital where he was taken early last Sunday with head injuries suffered when his car struck a utility pole at Poncetta Drive and Alemany Boulevard, Daly City.

Daly City police said Knox was driving east on Alemany when he lost control of the auto at 12:08 a.m., smashing into the pole on Poncetta.

Firemen also responded.

Resignation In, But Not Enough There to Accept

Pacifica City Councilman Don McMannis submitted his formal resignation last Wednesday night—but there were not enough councilmen present at the regular meeting to accept it.

James Fox had been excused, Mayor Harland Minshew explained, and Councilwoman Grace McCarthy had been called out of town suddenly, two hours before the meeting.

Nevertheless, Minshew accepted the resignation tentatively "with regrets," and promised that the council would give official acceptance "at the first opportunity."

In his statement, McMannis apologized for resigning so soon after his election to the council in April.

"I have the feeling that I'm breaking a trust," he said.

But he explained, as his employer PG&E has done, that neither had any idea he would be promoted and transferred to Auburn when he ran for the council this spring.

McMannis served on the Pacific planning commission before his appointment to the council in 1964, and has long been active in community affairs. He read his statement with evident emotion, and Mayor Minshew matched his mood.

"I'm just as regretful as you are," said the mayor.

McMannis managed to break the somber mood, however, by lighting up a cigar presented to him for the occasion by the planning commission, and speculated on whether it would explode. It did not.

At McMannis' suggestion, the mayor opened nominations for the post of vice-mayor, which the outgoing councilman holds. Elected to the post was Nick Gust, the only other councilman present. Gust was also named to fill McMannis' place on a committee of the North County Council of Cities which is studying supervisorial districting.

The question of a successor to McMannis is not officially raised; presumably it will come up at the next meeting of the council, an adjourned session set for this Friday, the first date when all focr remaining councilmen will be available.

Mayor Minshew, asked where he intended to look of a replacement, answered, "Within the city limits of Pacifica."

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

What is malocclusion?

Malocclusion is irregularity of tooth position and poor fitting together of the teeth on closing the jaws. Such irregularity not only may interfere with chewing and with speech but also may lead to disease of the gums and other supporting structures of the teeth (periodontal disease). Malocclusion may also produce deformities of the face. Ask your Dentist about Malocclusion and its treatment if needed.

Dr. Campbell limits his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for some; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Socrates And Education

"With their disrespect for the knowledge and authority of the administration, their demands for greater liberty in their social relationship," sounds like a contemporary quotation describing the unrest on college campuses. But it is what Socrates said on the subject 23 centuries ago.

Every adult who has been to college knows much the same feeling of unrest which flows through the veins of many a student when he sets foot on campus. Psychologists, educators, parents and others have spent much time trying to determine what ingredients go into the restless student, but certainly immaturity, the first broad step into adult life and its responsibilities, the general excitement of youth and lack of intelligent college discipline are enough to give some students the impression college is more of a lark than a spark for the future.

In high schools and as far back as primary education can be heard the complaints of those who are impatient to get to the "meat" of the curriculum. Why does the engineering student have to spend years in mathematics, the sciences and drafting before he can create?

Later on, of course, he finds out why. In some cases, judging by the number of high school graduates who have trouble using the English language or adding a row of numbers, school administrators apparently go through life asking themselves the same question.

Nevertheless, it is reassuring to learn colleges in Socrates' day had the same problem.

The Marquee

Daredevil A Woman!

Barbara Bladen

JOAN HUGHES flies for a living and crash dives for fun.

The fragile, petite and thoroughly feminine Britisher is George Peppard's stand-in for the flying scenes in the "Blue Max."

Being ordered to "get up there and go into a spin with the left wing burning" are words she loves to hear. It's all grand fun and breaks the routine of straight flying or teaching, she claims.

"Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines," were flying under false pretenses when Joan first began dare deviling for the movies. She was the woman pilot in the famous 1910 aircraft Demoiselle which had been duplicated to its original specifications. Since she only weighs 112 pounds and stands five feet, three inches high, Joan was the only pilot who could fly it.

Her prowess in the air was noted to studio officials by Air Commodore Allen Wheeler, supervisor of the flying sequences in both films who had known her for years. She is now one of a five-man stunt corps who can dog fight and perform breath-taking feats in the air on cue.

"We're usually called stunt flyers but we're not really. It's just that we can fly all types of craft and maneuver them well. Our movie scenes are done at close range, the planes that is, with a cameraman in a helicopter above us. It does take a lot of nerve, but more than that, it takes experience and good judgment," the 40-year-old flyer confirmed.

EIGHT PLANES FROM THE IRISH AIR CORPS complete the unit that provides the most exciting moments in the film about the escapades of a German air squadron in World War I and their highest award, a medal called the "Blue Max," a Maltese cross shaped of blue enamel and edged in silver with a German imperial eagle on it.

"I got into flying through my brother, who always wanted to be in the Royal Air Force. Besides we lived right next to a small air field and I spent all my time there. My parents didn't object and I couldn't resist going up in the sky, even as a young girl."

"Before the war began in Europe the Civil Air Guard taught flying for 70 cents an hour. During the war, of course, we were short of instructors, so I took a course and joined the Civilian Ferry Service, connecting all civilian pilots to relieve the Air Force men."

An expert at pre-war and vintage planes, Miss Hughes has piloted Vampires and Meteor jets but finds herself more at home in an older cockpit.

"It looks more dangerous than it is. There are modern engines in the rebuilt Fokkers and Pfalzes we fly and they're much more reliable than the originals. The underside of the wings are lined with asbestos sheeting. All I do is press a button and it ignites smokepots. Then I go into a spin and it looks authentic," she rattled off matter-of-factly.

The machine-gunning is done with a long range camera focused on air bottles inside the gun barrels that shoot off spouts of flame.

THE GREY HAIRED PIONEER and adventuresome aviatrix can't wait for her next assignment. Her personal appearances for "Blue Max" were her first time in the United States and she was loving every minute, especially San Francisco.

"You Americans are so active. Housewives fly here with their husbands and women own their own planes. It's marvelous. English women are not so relaxed. They think about everything for a long time and worry what people will say and usually end up not doing anything."

She emphasized how carefully instructed the pilots are on the film's air sequences. "We had briefings every morning. The moves are almost choreographed and we had masses of rehearsals. We'd go up and do the dog fights, come down and talk about it with the director, go up and do them again, come down and talk about it some more."

"The problem in the 'Blue Max' was we had to fly in close, which is dangerous. If the scene goes too long we increase our chance of accident. We couldn't mass too quickly or depart too quickly but we were working at eight and nine thousand feet.

Westview's Cleanup Drive: Trucks, Trowels

Pacificans On Hilltop Take Action

By DENIS WADE

TOW TRUCKS and trowels are helping to improve Westview, the hilltop neighborhood in Pacifica which has finally begun to fight its own blight.

The city has hauled away some two dozen abandoned automobiles in past weeks, and promises to remove others as soon as they are reported.

And residents of the ten-year-old development are helping to clean up their own area by beginning at home, fixing up houses and gardens.

Westview's problems are numerous. Financial difficulties cause part of the trouble, with multiple mortgages the rule rather than the exception. A high rate of turnover and large number of rented houses also contribute.

The wind usually blows in Westview, and it is often cold and frequently foggy. The only places for children to play are the school yard, a small undeveloped park and the streets.

THE WESTVIEW Improvement Club has been campaigning for improvements.

Club members number 100, although perhaps 15 of them are active. But the active 15 have spurred others to act.

The City Council, in response to a request from the club, asked for and got a report from City Manager Karl Baldwin about what is being and can be done in Westview.

Foremost among the city's steps has been the removal of old cars, helping to clear the narrow streets which are still crowded with operable cars—Westview homes have one-car garages with twenty-foot driveways, leaving only the street for extra parking.

Now underway are plans to contact owners of abandoned automobiles parked on private property, out of city jurisdiction, to ask for cooperation in eliminating the cars.

Westview's only park is an underdeveloped field at the end of Claridge Drive. Few residents even know it is there, and the only indication to those who venture to the end of the dead end street is a weathered sign.

The park is not even owned by the city. It is leased from the Doelger Corporation for a nominal $1 per year. The lease status, according to Baldwin, is the reason the city has been unable to make major improvements in the park such as planting grass and landscaping.

The weedy field has been mowed twice since April, when newly elected Councilman Nick Gust discovered the condition of the park. Its playground equipment is also maintained by the city.

The city has no immediate funds or plans for purchasing or improving the park.

THE IMPROVEMENT CLUB has also enlisted the aid of the Laguna Salada Union School District, whose trustees last week heard Superintendent Fred Lucas report on the specific seven points the club had cited.

Lucas said that work orders had been initiated to remedy first the first four complaints; "unsanitary, filthy and plugged" outdoor drinking fountains, broken light bulbs in outdoor sockets and debris and litter around the rear fence have been ordered fixed; and a request has been made to have the city street sweeper clean the school yard of broken glass and debris.

Lucas said that the fifth point, the lack of weed abatement on school grounds, had been referred to the gardener.

The final two requests, for more turfing and complete landscaping, the superintendent said, probably should include participation by the city and might take longer to accomplish.

He noted that he had already attended a meeting with representatives of the council, the improvement club and the new principal of Westview School, to discuss conditions in Westview.

Among the items reviewed, Lucas said, were all of the items mentioned above as well as abandoned houses, inadequate street lighting, the possibility of turning vacant lots into playgrounds, expansion of recreation programs, enforcement of leash laws, and the possibility of legal action to force improvements.

"Some of the people in Westview," said Lucas, "are not cooperating with the improvement club."

That is obvious, as evidenced by the neglected homes with cluttered weed-patch yards which sit side-by-side with well-maintained homes whose owners obviously take pride in their gardens.

But since the improvement club began its efforts in earnest, more and more residents have begun to spruce up their property.

MARIA CARTER, president of the club, says she believes trees and shrubbery are the answer. Westview's rows of Cape Cod homes with steeply pitched roofs need planting to break the monotony, she said. Mrs. Carter has personally contacted her neighbors on behalf of the club, going from door to door to explain the goals, and inform residents of the availability of street trees from the city public works department.

The Post toured Westview with Mrs. Carter, Councilman Gust and Superintendent Lucas, to view the progress and problems.

One of the most unsightly areas is the entrance to the subdivision on Skyline Drive. Pacifica's beautification plan, for which federal funds have been requested, includes renovation of the tract's "front door."

Other projects include turfing at Westview School, whose large yard is now mainly dirt and weeds. Grass has recently been planted along the west side, a big starting step.

More than lawn and planting will be necessary to keep the school yard in good condition, though; Lucas has accepted an offer of help by members of the improvement club, and asked them to police the school grounds on alternate weekends.

The job will not be a minor one, either. Four pickup truck loads of waste paper were removed from the school grounds last Thursday evening; by 10 a.m. Friday the yard was again littered with trash, evidently blown over fences from neighboring houses.

With efforts well underway at the school and on the streets, Mrs. Carter's energies are now being directed in a second direction.

She is also president of the Westview Community Development Group, which is working with the city to provide a community and child care center for the neighborhood.

THE BUILDING, if it can be obtained, would house preschool children in supervised programs, and would also be available to older youngsters and adults who presently have nowhere to go for neighborhood recreation except the school.

Baldwin, who is helping with the project, hopes that the building can be federally funded.

City officials—and residents, too—agree that the city can do only so much to help Westview. The majority of the work will have to be done by individuals.

More and more Westview individuals seem to be willing to do it, prodded by the efforts and example of their improvement club, school district and the city.

Mouth-Watering Gourmet Dinners

Samuel Chandler

THERE are some of us who remember these lines from a Glen Miller song:

"Dinner in the diner
Nothing could be finer than to have your ham and eggs in Carolina."

"Dinner in the Diner" is the title of a book calculated to make your mouth water and to fill your minds with memories of the gourmet dinners and the elegant service that characterize railroad dining cars.

The meals described and the recipes given represent specialty dishes from many regions. Included are unusual ways of serving such delights as Rocky Mountain trout, southern fried chicken, New Orleans shrimp, Idaho potatoes, and New England lamb.

Meals from 19 railroads are described and recipes are included. The authors suggest the reader use various recipes for dinner parties at home; so how about a dinner of stuffed pork tenderloin with gravy and raisin dressing, accompanied by a Southern Pacific salad bowl with French dressing, date bran muffins, mashed potatoes with tender French peas and cantaloupe pie a la Texas for dessert.

The section for each railroad contains a description of the rail line itself, of its service, and of the diner. Each contains a map of the entire line.

"DINNER in the Diner" was edited by Will C. Hollister as a part of a series of books about America published by Trans-Anglo Books of Los Angeles. Others in the series include: "City Makers" by Remi Nadeau; "The Skunk"; "Slim Rails Through the Sand," "Ride the Big Red Cars," and "Railroads of the Yosemite."

"The City Makers" tells the fascinating story of how Los Angeles grew from a Pueblo of 6,000 people in 1860. It tells of land owners who lacked vision, of promoters whose sixth sense seemed to tell them that their own would become a mighty city. A hundred or so little stories can be read from this book.

"The Skunk" is the story of the California Western Railroad, which the author says is the most famous and highly publicized short line in America. It is a steam line that stretches from the Pacific Ocean at Fort Bragg to the town of Willits. The book contains 200 rare photographs of a wonderful part of California.

THE AUTHOR is Spencer Crump who is also noted for his book "Ride the Big, Red Cars," which is a history of the trolleys of Southern California.

"Slim Rails Through the Sand," tells of the Carson and Colorado- Southern Pacific narrow gauge railway of California and Nevada. It has hundreds of illustrations and 14 pages of phototypes of plans by foremost draftsmen.

Hank Johnson's "Railroads of the Yosemite Valley" tells a fabulous story of four railroads that made western history during 40 years of operation in and near Yosemite National Park. The 400 illustrations show breath-taking climbs and descents, most of which have never been published before.

Better Business

Salesmen 'Con' Business Execs

Lorene Beasley

Businessmen throughout the country are being victimized by itinerant salesmen peddling overpriced office supplies and other materials.

These "con men," using a sympathy appeal, manage to get to the top executives by claiming to be acquainted with the other officers and members of the board of directors, or saying they have been referred by a well-known customer. One particularly imaginative salesman plyed his wares posing as a Hungarian "baron" associated with a nonexistent Hungarian national bank.

The salesmen do carry samples of top quality carbon paper and office supplies. By bearing down upon the low price, much name dropping and, subjected to a carefully rehearsed sob story, sound executives have let their misguided sympathy override their judgement and frequently orders as high as a thousand dollars have been written.

IN SOME reported instances, where only small orders were given, greatly enlarged supplies were shipped along with an appropriate accompanying bill, followed by subsequent dunning. All supplies received, unlike the samples, were of inferior quality.

At present two rackets are being worked across the country by salesmen with foreign accents. One racket is to pose as an Hungarian refugee who is struggling to raise money to bring other refugees to the United States.

Another misrepresentation is that they have been forced to liquidate their office supplies at a fraction of their worth to return to a sick relative behind the Iron Curtain—or, because of a death in the family they must return to Hungary to settle the estate.

A new pitch is the salesman who is on his way to Viet Nam to serve as an interpreter and therefore has to liquidate his stock of carbon paper and office supplies.

THE SECOND SCHEME involves a name-dropping salesman representing a packing company who comes into an area with the story that his company is planning to build or rent nearby. He shows samples of the packing material his company will be selling and solicits orders with the expressed hope of receiving testimonial letters.

Businessmen who have complained to Better Business Bureaus said they understood they were ordering samples of the product at a nominal charge. When the material was delivered it weighed much more than expected and was priced far above the nominal charge anticipated.

One complaint said laboratory tests of the packing material delivered to him was comparable in quality to competitive material selling one-sixth the price per pound.

Better Busisess Buerau advises purchasing agents soliciting to buy material from unknown firms to demand exact specifications, cost per pound and the total obligation of any order they consider placing.

School Vandalism Running Into Thousands of Dollars

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Monetary losses from recent acts of vandalism in the South San Francisco area will likely run into thousands of dollars, a school official told The Post this week.

But—South San Francisco isn't the only district suffering staggering losses as a result of what one police officer termed "senseless acts."

Over the past weekend six schools in the South San Francisco school district were hit by vandals who broke out window panes, tore open wall lockers, damaged new football uniforms and scrawled obscene words on desks and chalkboards with a knife.

Two years ago, San Bruno Park School District suffered similar acts of vandalism, according to assistant superintendent F. H. Jackson.

"But we've been very fortunate so far this year," Jackson said.

Jackson thinks children commit the acts of malicious mischief to prove they are not "chicken."

Chicken or not, police warn parents to be prepared to pay the cost of damages if their children are convicted of damaging school property.

Ted R. Silvas, Juvenile Division detective for South San Francisco, assisted by police technician Larry Ross, is working feverishly to solve the recent cases.

"We have several suspects being watched," Silvas said, adding, "It's only a matter of time before we arrest them."

Asked why children perform these acts, Silvas answered "who knows? I've been trying to figure it out for years, and haven't come up with the right answer yet."

Perhaps superintendent Jackson has the answer with his "wood theory."

"I think today's children just don't have enough wood to chop, and there seems to be a lack of family identity . . . a lack of mutual pride in parents and children," Jackson said.

No one child will commit an act of vandalism, according to Jackson.

"The vandal is basically a 'status seeker' and commits his destructive acts to prove to his companions he isn't afraid," Jackson explained.

A mixture of police, parents, school officials and Boy Scouts blended (and banded) together two years ago to combat the rise in acts of malicious mischief at schools in the San Bruno district.

Scouts and parents selected a different schoolground each week and "camped out" for several days.

This action apparently discouraged would-be vandals because incidents of damage to schools fell off sharply and finally halted completely in the district.

A school-community committee to combat vandalism in the area was also formed by the San Bruno P-TA, ministerial associations, city officials and juvenile authorities last year.

THE DAY AFTER—Just a day before, the Westview School grounds were cleaned, a truckload of litter hauled away. But Rung Hasselgren, Laguna Salada School District buildings and grounds supervisor, and Fred Lucas, district superintendent, clean up another pile of papers and other debris. (Post Photo)

Over 150 Brave Icy Winds, Hike Bruno

OFFICIALS EXPLAIN ROUTE—San Mateo County officials explain hike route to group of conservationists and individuals interested in establishing a recreation area atop San Bruno Mountain, Saturday morning. The turnout was larger than County Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald had anticipated. More than 150 persons braved icy winds and overcast skies to look over proposed park site. (Times Photo)

BRAVING ICY winds, a group of more than 150 persons took part Saturday in a morning-long hike through the wilds of San Bruno Mountain in a concentrated effort to locate a suitable site for a park.

San Mateo County Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald had earlier warned groups and interested individuals to "wear your old clothes and hiking shoes" during the park hike. He failed to advise them to wear arctic parkas to insulate them against the unseasonable cold.

But the dedicated conservationists, many with their canine friends in tow, turned up their collars, stuffed blue hands into their pockets and trudged off into the never-never regions of San Bruno Mountain.

Asked if the Crocker Company, owner of the 3,000 acre mountain-top property, would support the regional park proposal presently in the drafting stage, Supervisor Fitzgerald said "it's too early to discuss that matter."

He said Crocker had enlised the aid of the Bechtel Coporation to make a comprehensive development study of the entire mountain.

"Now that the new road is open, Crocker plans to develop this area," Fitzgerald said, referring to the recently-opened second section of the Guadalupe Canyon Parkway.

When completed late next year, the Guadalupe road will connect Daly City with Brisbane and the Bayshore Freeway, over San Bruno Mountain.

FITZGERALD first proposed the hike during a luncheon in Daly City shortly after groundbreaking ceremonies for the third phase of the Guadalupe Canyon Parkway.

At the luncheon were officials of Daly City, South San Francisco, and Brisbane, along with two vice presidents of the Crocker Company and representatives from the County of San Mateo.

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors have recently been hit with a steady stream of letters from both individuals and groups interested in preserving the mountain top in its natural state.

One of the strongest advocates of maintaining the area as an "undeveloped park" is the Paradise Valley Group.

In a recent letter a spokesman for the group, Arthur L. Maguire, said "In this day of modernization, the necessity to revert to the tranquility of trees, grass and a quiet moment is extremely important.

"San Bruno Mountain offers all this, and close at hand. We pray it is not destroyed for 'progress'," he said.

Saturday's hike was spearheaded by Ralph Shaw, director of Parks and recreation for San Mateo County.

Eight uniformed members of South San Francisco Troop 186, Boy Scouts of America, also participated in the hike—undoubtedly to insure everyone's safe return to the starting point at the end of the new Guadalupe Canyon Parkway.

D.C. Assessment Area Approved

After years of controversy a street improvement project for a Daly City area neighborhood — called the Ninety-second Street assessment project — was finally approved last week by the County Board of Supervisors.

Approval was voted despite the objections of the owners of 63 per cent of the property involved, including the Jefferson Elementary School District and former county supervisor Thomas J. Callan.

The project, which will include new paving, curbs, gutters, sidewalks, water lines, sanitary sewers and storm drains, will cost $496,140, of which the county and city of Daly City will contribute a total of $104,529.

The school district asked that the Pauline Brown School property at 305 Eastmoor Avenue be excluded from the project because it would not be benefited.

The school's assessment is $11,689. The board held, however, that the project would benefit the school by improving streets in the area, providing better facilities for pickup and delivery of children, and better fire protection.

Callan complained that some of his lots were charged too much for acquisition of land to widen Ninety-second Street.

Group in S.S.F. Urges Retention Of Open Lands

The Paradise Valley Group of South San Francisco strongly advocates the retention of the remaining underdeveloped land on San Bruno Mountain as an open space and scenic area, with preservation of all, and in particularly the main ridge from the peak on the northwestern end, extending southeasterly to the end of the ridge above Sierra Point.

Suitable vista points should be established along said ridge, to be connected by a trail or scenic road, to terminate at a vista point at the southeasterly end above Sierra Point at approximately the 1,000-ft. elevation.

One or more recreational areas should be established in several suitable exisiting locations in the area, with minimum alteration of present natural condition of terrain, and maximum preservation of existing forestation and shrubbery, and with possibly some addition to the tree and plant life destroyed by the many unfortunate fires.

Hiking and riding trails should be provided throughout the entire area, which, aside from the actual recreational areas and vista points, should be left in its present semi-wild state, thus establishing a giant regional scenic area and open space in the midst of a rapidly developing metropolitan complex. This type of open scenic area requires a minimum of expense to maintain, and offers a maximum of enjoyment to all who wish to use it.

In this day of modernization, the necessity of reverting to the tranquility of trees, grass and a quiet moment is extremely important. San Bruno Mountain offers all this, and close at hand, we pray it is not destroyed for "progress."

Qualification Tests Attract A Roomfull

A crowd of 145 persons packed the cafeteria at South San Francisco's El Camino High School last week.

The occasion was neither a luncheon nor a school or civic function.

Those present were taking city qualification tests for positions as firemen, police officers and stenographers.

Fireman applicants numbered 112, a turnout which nearly overwhelmed Ruth Vanni, the city's personnel assistant. Mrs. Vanni said 193 men had applied for the examination, but that only a small percentage of the applicants normally appear.

Of 73 applicants for the police officer test, 28 appeared—a figure closer to expectations, but still considered quite good.

Five of the 145 were on hand to take the stenographer test.

The results of the tests showed 23 successful fireman applicants of the 112 tested—slightly more than one-fifth. Eight of the police officer candidates who appeared made passing scores.

Those who made it are now being scheduled for appointments to be fingerprinted and tested for agility. Assuming they pass the agility test and have satisfactory backgrounds, the next step will be interviews before the full personnel board, leading to establishment of eligibility lists.

It took seven and a half hours to process the applicants, Mrs. Vanni said. She was aided by Eugene Lynch, a member of the city's personnel board, four firemen and one policeman who volunteered their time to help.

Officer Donald Osterman helped test the police candidates, while Gil Castro, Gilbert Martinez, William Stridbeck and William Reich from the fire department assisted with their applicants.

Poverty Area Delegation Limits Set

Persons representing the county's poverty areas on the Human Resources Commission should be poor themselves, the commission has decreed.

After considerable debate and a close vote — 9 to 7 — the commission last Thursday night decided to limit the income a candidate may have: $4,000 a year for a candidate with a family of four, with $500 additional allowed for each family member over four.

The majority, headed by Robert Rippeto, county superintendent of social service, argued that the limitation was needed to assure that poor persons will actually be on the commission to help administer the war on poverty program.

The minority felt that no income limitation should be set. They argued that it would not mean that the poor could not be elected and at the same time would permit the election of a person with higher income who might be the first choice of the residents of a particular area.

The commission agreed, however that there should be no income limitation on those who would be qualified to vote in an area election.

It was also voted that the minimum age for candidates, as well as voters, will be 18.

Edward Morgan, superintendent of the Jefferson High School District, and others expressed the view that it would be beneficial to have some younger persons serving on the commission.

The requirements on income and age are part of a set of election procedures approved by the commission in an attempt to comply with the federal Office of Economic Opportunity requirement that there be "maximum feasible participation of the poor" in the various war on poverty projects.

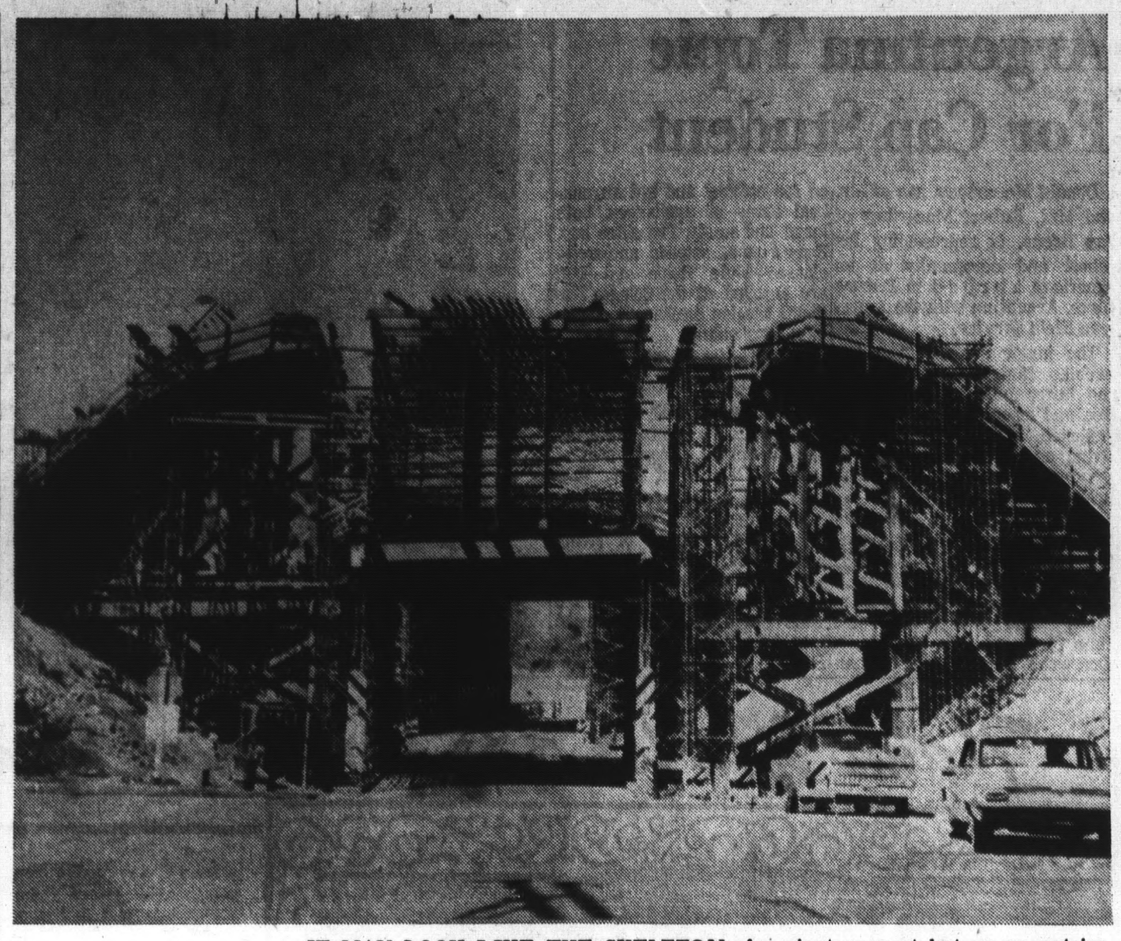
PISTOL TAKEN

A small automatic pistol was taken from the glove compartment of a parked pickup truck owned by Munural L. Dickerson Jr., yesterday, South San Francisco police reported.

Dickerson told police the gun was an Italian-made Derringer.

STEREO THEFT

Pearl A. Nitsch, of 431 Baden Avenue, reported to South San Francisco that a stereo unit valued at more than $130 was stolen from her home over the past weekend.



IT MAY LOOK LIKE THE SKELETON of a giant quonset hut or an outsize version of a Japanese garden footbridge, but motorists will be driving across this structure by sometime in 1967. It's the overpass which will carry the Junipero Serra Freeway across Jenevein Avenue in San Bruno when the 1.7 mile segment between route 186 and Larkspur Drive in Millbrae is opened. Engineers report work is more than 35 per cent complete.

Finance Chief, Aide Quit Municipal Posts at D.C.

Joseph Arch, Daly City director of finance, has submitted his resignation effective July 22, it was announced.

City Manager Edward Frank accepted the resignation, and that of Arch's assistant, Russ Jones. Frank said that Jones explained that the new finance director should have the privilege of selecting his own assistant. Jones' resignation is also effective July 22.

Arch cited personal reasons for giving up the city job.

Frank said it would probably take at least 30 to 60 days to choose a successor.

Argentina Topic For Cap Student

Donald Macartney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Macartney of San Bruno, is representing his school and community as an American abroad in Buenos Aires, Argentina with the American Field Service.

The junior student from Capuchino High School left here the latter part of January to live and attend school in South America. While abroad, he is living as a "son" in the Leon Chammak home located in Belgrano, Buenos Aires.

Highlights from Don's first letters included a description of his host family's spacious apartment home. His "father," Senor Chammak, owns a linen factory and has considerable time to spend with his family. Don wrote that the family wanted for nothing and had an unusual array of appliances, both large and small. The older boy, Enrique, attends university classes while Ronie and Don are enrolled at the Colegio National Nicolas Avellaneda, a private boys' school.

In telling of his life in South America Don's letters are highlighted with holiday trips with the Chammaks before the opening of school. They spent a week at Punta del Este, Urugury, in February.

Macartney says he has the "dubious honor" of living through his first, and he hoped his last, cyclone in February. He has always lived on the West Coast, so this experience was indeed a new and rather frightening one.

Felony Drunk Count Against S.S.F. Man

A South San Francisco man was jailed early last Sunday on a charge of felony drunk driving following a Foster City traffic accident in which a Foster City woman was injured.

Booked at county jail was Gerald T. Guernsey, 22, shipping clerk, of 319 Northwood Drive, South San Francisco.

He also was charged with having no operator's license in his possession and on a warrant charging him with violation of probation on a burglary conviction.

Foster City Public Safety Officers James Carter and Fred Ottinger said that Guernsey's car missed a turn on a detour on Foster City Boulevard and Third Avenue and overturned.

Injured was Guernsey's passenger, Joan Ellen Nesbitt, 21, of 783 Niantic Drive, Foster City. She was treated at Mills Memorial Hospital for multiple lacerations and a fracture of the right hand and a laceration of the left leg.

State Seeks Licensing Examiners

Driver license examiners are needed by the California Department of Motor Vehicles.

Manger Owen V. Owens of the Daly City office of the department said applications for the position are available in the local office at 199 Southgate Avenue, Daly City.

Applications must be filed by Friday for the Civil Service examination that will be held August 13, he added.

Salary range for position is $510 to $619 per month.

Qualifications include—college graduation or equivalent, or four years of public contact work which has involved discussion, explanation, and interpretation of products, policies, or procedures of an organization; possession of a valid California driver's license; U.S. citizenship with residence in California for the 12 months immediately before the examination date.

Senior college students will be allowed to take the examination, but must be graduated befor appointment from an eligible list can be made.

DMV presently employs more than 500 driver license examiners at nearly 150 field office locations statewide. Many of the department's management and supervisory positions have traditionally been filled from the examiner ranks.

Questionnaires Being Sent To Many Pacifica Citizens

One out of every ten Pacifica families is receiving a questionnaire designed to help the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce, governmental leaders and merchants learn more about shopping and buying habits and inadequacies in the community's commercial complex.

In a letter signed by Harland Minshew, Pacifica's mayor, Stan Vander Hule, immediate past president of the Chamber, selcted residents are being invited to "let off a little steam" and to take a few minutes to tell about any "pet peeve about shopping in Pacifica.

The four-page questionnaire was mailed last week.

Reason for the survey?

Vander Hule and Minshew frankly summed it this way:

"A good portion of our sales tax dollar goes out of town and we seriously would like to know why."

They explained, "This sales tax dollar that is going out of town, if retained, could lower property taxes."

They hope the chamber and others in community leadership can do something about the situation, if enough of the survey forms are returned. (Self-addressed, stamped envelopes accompanied the questionnaires.)

It asks for the region in Pacifica in which the family lives, occupations, number of children, car availability, and where furniture, food, appliances, clothing, hardware, building supplies, drugs, sundries and shoes are purchased—and why, if out of town.

The Chamber also wants to know price relationships between Pacifica and other area shopping centers and business houses, as well as reasons, if any, for refusing to shop particular shores.

It hopes to learn what advertising media influences residents' shopping habits the most, and whether they charge or pay cash for major items.

There also is space in the questionnaire for "What general suggestions would you offer that might encourage more Pacificans to shop in Pacifica?"

Special commodity sections specifically covered in the survey include atuomotive, men's clothing, women's clothing, shoes, markets, restaurants, home furnishings and hardware.

DRIVER IS IMPROVING at Peninsula Hospital today from injuries received in a two-car mishap on Airport Boulevard, South San Francisco, last week. Edwin Stephen's wife, Lucille was killed in the grinding collision with another car driven by 18-year-old Sheldon Leplin, of 2325 Alameda Avenue, San Mateo. Leplin, a student at the University of California, Los Angeles, suffered only minor injuries in the crash. South San Francisco police are continuing investigation of the accident. (Post Photo)

Summer Brings a Promise Of Fresh Peach Cobbler

ONCE SUMMER'S fresh peaches are on the scene, every family deserves some pies and pudding made with the fruit.

One of the best of these sweets is a cobbler. This is an old-fashioned dessert that is particularly alluring today (when every family has its weight- watchers) because it boasts more fruit than pastry.

In the following recipe sliced peaches are mixed with sugar, corn starch and salt and turned into a baking dish. Then the fruit is covered with a rolled-out topping. We think you'll like the explicit directions for rolling out the dough and cutting it so it looks professional.

One extra word rfom tse we're-saying-it-again depart-we're-saying-it-again depart-ment: A pastry cloth (for use in rolling out dough), a pastry wheel (for use in cutting attractive edges) and a stockinet-covered rolling pin are enormous helps to any cook.
helps to any cook.

peach cobbler

1 cup plus 1½ TABLESPOONS sugar
3 tablespoons corn starch
¾ teaspoon salt
3 pounds (about) ripe peaches
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1½ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
⅛ teaspoon baking soda
¼ cup corn oil
1 egg
¼ cup commercial sour cream

In a large mixing bowl, stir together the 1 cup sugar, corn starch and ¼ teaspoon of the salt.

Peel peaches, slice and measure—there should be 6 cups. Add peaches and vanilla to sugar mixture and use a spoon to mix them with it.

Turn peaches into an oblong oven-glass baking dish (10 by 6 by 1¾ inches). Dot with butter.

Into a medium mixing bowl, sift together the flour, the 1½ tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon remaining salt, the baking powder and the baking soda. Add corn oil. With a pastry blender or a fork, mix until coarse crumbs form.

In a small mixing bowl, beat egg until yolk and white are combined; add sour cream and beat to combine. Add all at once to flour mixture; with a fork, stir until a soft dough forms.

On a prepaerd pastry cloth, knead dough 15 to 20 times. With a prepared stockinet-covered rolling pin, roll out dough to about ⅛-inch thickness. With a sharp knife, cut out a rectangle (10 by 6 inches) to fit just inside baking dish. In center of rectangle, cut out a diamond shape (about 3 by 2 inches.) Place dough over peaches.

From remaining dough, with a pastry wheel, cut out four ½-inch wide strips, two of them 6 inches long; use these to outline crust, even with pastry edge, around the sides. Cut out two more ½-inch wide strips, each about 11 inches long; arrange these two strips criss-cross from corner to corner across crust. Cut out four short strips, two of them 3 inches long, and two of tsem 2 inches long; use these to outline diamond shape in center.

Bake cobbler in a hot (425 degrees) oven until peaches are tender and crust is well browned—about 25 minutes.

SEASONED LAMB CHOPS

4 loin lamb chops (about 1¼ pounds), 1-inch thick
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon crumbled oregano
1 medium clove garlic, crushed
1 tablespoon lemon juice

With toothpicks, skewer the "tail" of each chop so it rests flat along the side of the chop. On a small flat platter, stir together the remaining ingredients. With a small spatula, spread the mixture over the top and side surfaces of the chops. Allow to stand at room temperature for ½ to 1 hour. Broil, according to directions for your range, until fat has crisp brown surface and meat has just lost its pink color and is still juicy. Test for doneness by using a small sharp knife to make a slit in the meat beside the bone. Remove picks. Makes 2 servings.

Strawberry Upside-down Cake Recipe

A delightful dessert made with a favorite berry!

Fresh Salmon Potatoes
Green Peas Salad Bowl
Strawberry Upsidedown Cake

STRAWBERRY UPSIDEDOWN CAKE

1 tablespoon plus ¼ cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 cups ripe but firm strawberries, small or medium size
1¼ cups sifted cake flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 large egg
1-3 cup milk

In an 8 by 8 by 2 inch cake pan, melt the 1 tablespoon butter. Sprinkle ½ cup sugar over the butter; shake pan to distribute sugar evenly. Cut hulls from berries and arrange cut-side down, in neat rows, over sugar; if any berries are larger than others, halve. On wax paper, sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream the ¼ cup butter with the remaining ½ cup sugar and vanilla; thoroughly beat in egg. Stir in sifted dry ingredients in 3 additions, alternately with milk, just until smooth. Spoon and spread batter over berries—don't worry if it doesn't cover all berry tops. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out free of batter—40 minutes. Place cake in pan on wire rack for 4 minutes; invert on serving plate; serve warm or reheat.

These Meat Balls Have Big Secret

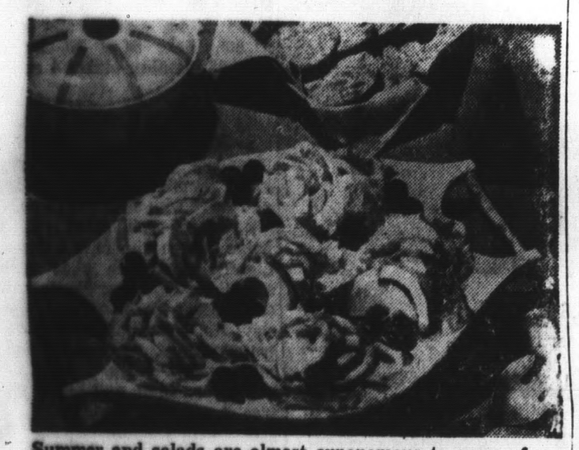
If you're mad about chiles rellenos, you'll guess the secret right away. Canned green chili peppers stuffed with cheese are the heart and soul of these meat balls. The good lean ground western beef, beautifully seasoned and moistened with wine, becomes the big star of the dinner party. Your imaginative use of every day ground beef will put you in a special league with your guests.

Chili Stuffed Beef Balls

- 1½ pounds ground lean beef
- 1½ teaspoons seasoned salt
- Dry white dinner wine
- ¾ cup soft bread crumbs
- ¼ cup finely chopped green onion
- 1 (4-ounce) can green chilies
- 12 (½-inch) cubes Cheddar cheese
- Cooking oil
- 1 (10½-ounce) can bouillon
- 3 tablespoons chili sauce
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons water

Combine beef with salt, ⅓ cup wine, bread crumbs and onion. Divide into 12 portions. Cut chilies into 12 lengths and wrap 1 piece around each cheese cube. Shape beef into balls with chili and cheese in center of each. Brown in hot oil. Drain off excess fat. Add bouillon and ¾ cup wine. Simmer about 15 minutes basting now and then with pan sauce. Stir in chili sauce. Thicken pan sauce with cornstarch mixed with water. Makes 6 servings.

Summer's Time For Good Salad



Summer and salads are almost synonomous to some of us, and why not? Nothing sings out so clearly that summer is on the way as fresh crisp salads.

The packaged salad dressing mixes are a big boon to us salad lovers. We can have the "makings" for a variety of dressings without the clutter of bottles on the shelf. Creamy Russian salad dressing mix, when mixed with vinegar, water, and oil, makes about one cup of tangy, yet slightly sweet, creamy dressing.

A perfect salad accompaniment for this lively dressing is Fiesta Salad, which combines sliced avocado, pimiento strips, and big black olives with Boston lettuce. A colorful salad with a vivid dressing . . . indeed fit for a . . . Czar.

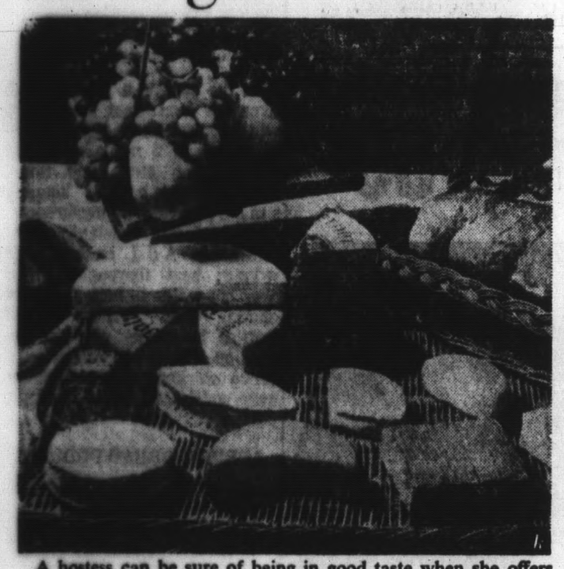
FIESTA SALAD

- 1 envelope creamy Russian salad dressing mix
- Vinegar, water, and oil
- 1 small head Boston lettuce
- 3 avocados, peeled and sliced
- 1 or 2 canned pimientos, cut in thin strips
- Ripe olives

Prepare salad dressing mix with vinegar, water, and oil as directed on envelope. Chill 1 hour.

Arrange lettuce leaves on a serving platter or 6 individual salad plates. Place avocado slices on lettuce. Garnish with pimiento strips and olives. Serve with dressing. Makes 6 side salads.

Fruit and Cheese Go Together Well



A hostess can be sure of being in good taste when she offers guests an assortment of fine French cheeses as a cheese or dessert course, or with coffee as a company refreshment. Crusty loaves of French bread, or the deliciously crisp biscottes from France, are excellent with any cheese tray. And there's nothing more attractive than colorful fruit.

FRENCH CHEESES

BRIE (bree) — A cow's milk cheese, soft, slightly salted.

PORT SALUT (pohr-sah-loo) — A pasteurized cheese, yellow, smooth and buttery. Similar to St. Paulin. Both used in cooking.

ROQUEFORT (rok-fohr)— Made of ewe's milk, streaked with green veins to give a deliciously tangy flavor.

FONDUE AUX RAISINS (fonduh-o-ra-sahn) — Another name for grape cheese, smooth with a delicate flavor. Crust is made from the pulp of grapes pressed for wine.

FROMAGE DE CHEVRE (froh-mahzh-duh-shevr) — Rich goat's milk cheese. The curd is white, with a mild flavor. A thin mould covers the rind.

CAPRICE DES DIEUX (kah-prees-deh-duh) — Similar to Brie, creamier and more delicate.

CAMEMBERT (kah-mehm-behr) — Soft and easy to spread, has a robust flavor.

BONBEL (bohn-bel)—Similar to Port Salut. Good for cooking.

COULOMMIERS (koo-lo m'yeh)—Similar to Brie.

SAINT-PAULIN (sahn-poh-lahn)—A cow's milk cheese with buttery consistency and thin rind.

PONT-L'EVEQUE (pohn-l'eh-vek) — A square, yellow cheese with a hearty flavor.

CARRE DE L'EST (kah-reh-duh-l'est) — Made from pasteurized cow's milk. Softens on ripening. Has a buttery texture and milk flavor.

Thirst Quencher Is Top Favorite

TALL REFRESHING GLASSES OF ICED TEA just seem to go along with summer socials, especially the informal kind . . . with just a few friends. Iced tea can come alive with true lemon flavor when Twist imitation lemonade mix with sugar is added to it—bright, tart, and just sweet enough to quench stubborn thirst.

If you are one of the many calorie counters, there's a pre-sweetened sugar free mix that will give the same lemony goodness without the added calories.

Add a sprig or two of mint and your Lemon Tea will delight your family as well as your friends.

LEMON TEA

Ice cubes
4-3/4 cups strong tea
1 envelope sugar-sweetened imitation lemonade mix*

*Or 1 envelope pre-sweetened sugar free imitation lemonade mix. Fill 5 iced tea glasses with ice cubes. Pour in tea. Then stir about 1-1/2 tablespoons sugar-sweetened lemonade mix (or about 1/2 teaspoon sugar free mix) into each glass until dissolved. Makes 5 servings.

Preserving Bit Of Sunshine

ALTHOUGH THE DAYS ARE WARM AND SUNNY, it is inevitable that the bleak, cold wintry days will roll around again. Wouldn't it be nice if you could "jam" a little of the summer's sunshine into a bottle, to open up on a cold winter's day? . . . You can, you know. Sun-ripened peaches will soon be at their abundant best, which of course is the time to capture a little bit of sunshine. Homemade peach jam is easy to make with powdered fruit pectin and will be a pleasure to serve when the summer is all but forgotten.

PEACH JAM

4 cups prepared fruit (about 3 lb. fully ripe peaches)
2 tablespoons lemon juice (1 lemon)
5-1/2 cups (2 lb. 6 oz.) sugar
1 box (1-3/4 oz.) powdered fruit pectin

First prepare the fruit. Peel and pit about 3 pounds peaches. Grind or chop very fine. Measure 4 cups into a large saucepan. Squeeze the juice from 1 lemon; add 2 tablespoons to fruit.

Then make the jam. Measure sugar and set aside. Mix fruit pectin into fruit in saucepan. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. Immediately add all sugar and stir. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim for 5 minutes to cool slightly and prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover at once with 1/8 inch hot paraffin. Makes about 8 medium glasses.

Saucy Salad

FOR A salad treat with a delightfully different flavor, add touch of A.1. Sauce to:

PEAR SALAD SUPREME

3 ripe pears
lemon juice
2 pkgs. (3 oz.) cream cheese
3 tbsp. mayonnaise
1/2 cup whipped heavy cream
1 cup diced celery
6 lettuce leaves
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1 tsp. A.1. Sauce

Pare, halve and core pears. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Blend mayonnaise into cheese until smooth. Fold into whipped cream. Add celery. Place individual pear half on lettuce leaf, top with cream cheese mixture. Top with 1 tsp. A.1. Sauce, garnish with chopped nuts. Serves 6.

This Roast Chicken Good

Paprika Roast Chicken with Noodles and Gravy
Asparagus Salad Bowl

PAPRIKA ROAST CHICKEN

3-pound roasting chicken
Salt
1½ tablespoons butter, soft
2 medium cloves garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon paprika

Clean and dry chicken, inside and out, with paper toweling. Sprinkle inside with salt. Tuck wingtips back akimbo fashion; do not truss. Blend 1 tablespoon butter with garlic and paprika; with small spatula spread over outside of chicken. Grease 13 by 9 by 2 inch roasting pan with remaining butter. Place chicken, breast side down, in pan. Roast in a hot (425 degrees) oven, shaking pan midway, for ½ hour. Turn chicken breast side up and continue to roast for ½ hour or longer or until tender. Cut into serving pieces with kitchen scissors. Make natural or thickened gravy from drippings in pan) strain; serve hot with chicken. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

NO "HIGH-GRADING" at MAYFAIR!

If it's old-fashioned to sell top-quality meat, honestly cut and trimmed, at low prices - then we're "SQUARE" and proud of it!

Here's what "High-Grading" means . . . and how it cuts into your food dollar!

"High-Grading" means that basically similar cuts of meat are "sorted" so that higher retail prices can be charged on some of the cuts . . . when in all fairness to you, the retail price should be the same. For example:

a.) Porterhouse steaks are often sorted from T-Bone Steaks to be sold at a higher price. NOT AT MAYFAIR!
b.) Club Steaks are often sorted from Rib Steaks to be sold at a higher price. NOT AT MAYFAIR!
c.) 7-Bone Roasts are often sorted from Blade Cut Chuck Roasts to be sold at a higher price. NOT AT MAYFAIR!
d.) First-Cut Round Steaks are often sorted from all other Round Steaks to be sold at a higher price. NOT AT MAYFAIR!
e.) First-Through-Fifth Ribs of the Standing Rib are often sold at a higher price than the Sixth and Seventh Ribs. NOT AT MAYFAIR!
f.) Pin-Bone "Sirloins" are often mixed with true Sirloin Steaks and sold at the same price. NOT AT MAYFAIR!

Too technical for you? We don't think so. We believe you're interested in FACTS that will save you money. If you're not now buying Mayfair's USDA Choice Blue Ribbon Beef, the facts above should make you ask yourself: "Why not?" Buy it this week and save.

JOE KAUDY, 127 Ottawa Street, San Mateo, and his family are starting their grocery shopping spree at Jerry's Market, Poplar and San Mateo Drive, San Mateo. Of six contestants who had the same number of correct answers, Kaudy had the correct total price of $4.36 to be this week's winner in The Times "Your Gorcery List Contest." For his efforts he was awarded $90 in groceries from the nine participating markets and $50 cash for being a Times subscriber. Mr. Kaudy, who is office manager for Hobart Manufacturing Company in Burlingame, said he had two real pleasant surprises in his life, first four years ago when his wife presented him with triplet boys and the second when he won the Grocery List Contest.

FIRST-WEEK GROCERY LIST CONTEST WINNER—Mrs. J. Cason, 4304 Alameda de las Pulgas, San Mateo, accepts check for $50 from Douglas Bush, left, retail advertising manager of The Times, and $10 grocery order from Dick Humphrey, right, owner of Humphrey's Twenty-fifth Avenue Market. Mrs. Cason, a regular Times' subscriber, won a total of $140, counting the $10 grocery orders from each of the nine participating markets. She was first winner in the contest which will run for nine more weeks. Readers simply guess the lowest advertised retail price of selected items in Times' food store advertisements each week. Everyone may take part by simply filling out the form which appears each Wednesday in The Times and Post.

Chilean Theme Paintings Are Displayed at Library

Shirley Yudkin, Daly City artist who recently returned from Santiago, Chile, where she resided for 18 months, is exhibiting some of her drawings and paintings based on Chilean themes in the window of the Merced Library on Winston Drive.

Also included in the display are artifacts which Mrs. Yudkin collected while she lived in Chile. Included are rings, copper, manta, riding stirrups, pancho, ceramic pottery, coins, stamps, and Easter Island jewelry and sculpture.

While in Chile, Mrs. Yudkin exhibited her surrealistic drawings at the Chilean Institute of Culture. Her paintings in San Francisco were exhibited at the Diversified Art League Gallery.

She taught art to the children of the Religious School at Temple Judea, and she designed the brushed brass lettering for the Ten Commandments and the eight-foot outdoor Menorah on the Temple Judea Synagogue.

The exhibit will remain in the library until the end of July.

Writers Will Meet Tonight

The Writers' Workshop of Pacifica will meet tonight with a writer's group in Daly City.

The joint meeting will feature mutual critique of the work of members of both groups. They will meet at the home of Mrs. Margaret O. Richardson, 243 Lakeshire Drive, Daly City.

Mrs. Richardson, a published poet, conducts her group on the same basis as the one in Pacifica. There is no fee, no dues, no formal membership. The structure of her group is the same as that conducted in Pacifica by Nathaniel Marks.

Anyone interested in any phase of writing is welcome to attend weekly meetings.

For information on the Writers Workshop of Pacifica, writers should phone Lois Picillo, 359-2282.

- Here's an exciting way to figure out what you think the prices of groceries will be next week—and win cash and groceries while you are doing it. The Times will give the winner $25 in cash. However, if the winner is a regular, home-delivered subscriber, he or she will receive an extra bonus of $25, a total prize of $50 in cash. The winner also will be given $10 worth of groceries of his or her own choosing from each of the merchants listed above.

- Just write what you think will be the lowest advertised prices for the items (printed in the official entry blank) in any advertisement in next Wednesday's issue of The Times and Post. The person who has the most correct answers will be declared the winner. If more than one entry has the same number of correct answers, or if no entry contains any correct answers, then the person who picks the total closest to the actual total price of all items, will be declared the winner.

- Quality, quantity, brand, grade or size of a product must be advertised in terms of the units called for in the contest. For example, if three pounds of an article are advertised that price cannot be considered if the contest calls for the lowest advertised price of one pound. In the event an article is not advertised in the quantity called for in the contest, then only the remaining articles and their total will be considered for the contest. Advertised prices will not be considered if a coupon, minimum purchase or purchase of another article is required to buy that article at that price. This week's entries must be postmarked or received in The Times office not later than Friday midnight, July 22, to be eligible. Entries must be addressed to Your Grocery List Editor, San Mateo Times, San Mateo, California.

Join the Fun-Rush To Nevada—Go Greyhound

LLOYD SHIPPEY of the Greyhound Lines sent this interesting bit of information to this office, and Bright Lights is passing it on to you: "Perhaps because it is the prodigal son who rates the biggest reception, Nevada's plush centers of entertainment from Las Vegas to Reno, and both Lake Tahoe's shores, are rolling out fresh strips of red carpet. It's their welcome for those long-absent Californians who were forced to stay home because of the six weeks absence of Greyhound buses. Once again these buses which have featured low-cost transportation and high-value entertainment upon arrival, are rolling over the highways to fill the fun-gap for both patrons and resort and casino operators. As before, most of these Nevada entertainment centers are providing special incentives and gifts for their bus-riding California friends. For full information on where and when to go, and the special service applying to Greyhound bus transportation over the High Sierras to the Nevada entertainment palaces, ask at your nearest Greyhound office. Join the "fun rush," via Greyhound, to Nevada."

LOLA'S FIGURE SECRET IS OUT! Lola Bogdan, beautiful co-owner of Bertolucci's in South San Francisco, keeps trim and fit by playing tennis whenever she's free of hostessing duties. Golden Gate Tennis Club and Peninsula Tennis Club are her favorites. Now if she could just resist Mamma's scrumptious cannelloni! . . . . Know everyone will be happy to hear that the Cote D'Azur in Atherton will open again on Monday, after a two-week vacation that seemed to have lasted for months. Specializing in full-course French and Italian dinners, Dan Biagi and executive chef Rene Canabou's popu- and dinner daily, except Sunday . . . Erroll Garner, pianist, MGM recording artist and composer of the international hit, "Misty," returns to Basin Street West in San Francisco for a 12-day engagement on Tuesday, July 26 .

FOTIS GONIS, handsome new bouzouki player at the Balkan Village, Los Altos, was a soloist at the Greek Pavilion of the World's Fair in New York. He's a dead ringer for Vittorio Gassman, the Italian film star. Fotis has entertained at many of New York's best Greek night clubs, including the Golden Room . . . A fresh, new, and extremely entertaining instrumental and vocal group known as "The Razor's Edge" (formally the American Beatles) have taken Bill Gilbert's Tiger Club by storm every night since they opened. Four swinging university types who explode with enthusiasm into music, comedy, song, and dance from the moment they step on stage, the boys, who appear with Rogers Collins and a dozen, or more, shapely Tiger Kittens, are Truly fun lovers . . . Nick Finocchio's New Tivoli; you can dine on superb dishes like sweetbreads saute, filet of sole dore, or roast beef au jus for less than $3—and that's a complete seven-course dinner, too.

Sinaloa Cast Performs Benefit At Naval Hospital

Sinaloa manager, Julio Acosta, is very proud of a letter he received, recently, from Rear Admiral H. J. Cokely, commanding officer of the U.S. Naval Hospital in Oakland. In his letter, Admiral Cokely expressed his sincere thanks to Julio and the whole Sinaloa cast for a special benefit show they put on at the hospital, a few weeks ago, for the men in the amputee wards.

Successful Switch Waiter To Chef

George Bollag, partner-chef of L'Auberge in Atherton, made an unusual switch when he opened this superior French restaurant. He's a waiter-turned-chef, who formerly served at Villa d'Este. He has a degree in Hotel Administration from a Swiss school and his artistry in the kitchen is one of the marvels that makes nobody regret his change in occupations. But, George, don't you miss the tips?

Friday and Saturday night pianobar entertainment at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City is well received by both the dining and late-evening cocktail crowds. P.S.: Have Mary Lou petite and charming hostess-coowner, give you a history rundown on the huge grandfathers clock located just off the main dining room. Methinks it must have been in the dining room on the Mayflower.

Foster's Original Pancake and Chicken House has the ultimate food bargain for the home table. With each bucket of farm fried chicken to take out (which is enough for a family of five) you receive FREE one of Foster's famed apple pies. Nuf said.

The George Cerrutti Trio, a well-established group of musicians who have played in many of the Bay Area's leading clubs, continues to attract the smart set for cocktails and dancing to the Villa Lounge in the Villa Hotel.

JIMMY DURANTE ENTERTAINS ED SULLIVAN — During a recent visit to the dressing room of his pal Jimmy Durante, Ed enjoyed a few of Jimmy's off-stage gags. Whenever the famed television and nitery star is in the Bay Area, he makes his headquarters at the beautiful Hyatt House in Burlingame, where Ed Sullivan is general manager.

Pancho's Food Rates Raves

Pancho's Mexican restaurant in Redwood City is, without a doubt, one of the finest restaurants of its kind in all of California. Even people who were born "South of the border" are in accord with the motto here—"One taste is worth ten thousand words." Try it—it's a cinch you'll be back again and again.

Duane Eckert and Dave Rasmussen's Capn's Cabin is a favorite rendezvous for members of the press and sport fans, alike. They don't serve food at Cap'ns Cabin, but, boy, do they do a bar business.

Laff-of-the-week: Lew Lehr received a skunk skin cover for his golf putter from pals Ken and Ray Bailey, along with this this note: "You're a stinking putter."

One of the many specials at the Gourmet Table is the prime rib roast served on Thursdays. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday you'll find New York steak on the "All you can eat" spread. For those who enjoy Friday sea food feasts, fish and shrimp are featured.

Frank Torres' Montara Beach Resort has Bright Lights' "vote" as one of the most outstanding restaurants and cocktail lounges on the West Coast. 13 picture window view of the Pacific ocean and the nearby hills is a dining sightem. Peruvian dinners are featured, along with a wide selection of steaks and sea food.

HYATT HOUSE BULLETIN

Good Grief! Is everyone building a new restaurant?

Sure seems that way.

Have to go a long ways to beat the favorite of the Peninsula, the Scheherazade Room at Hyatt House.

For six years now the food has remained at a consistent high quality. Old Bobby Wellman's band just can't be beat for dancing, and the steady help makes it fun to go to the Hyatt House.

Join Pic-n-Pan "Spaceburger Club"

I am now a member of the Pic 'n Pan "Spaceburger Club." This delicious burger consists of a half pound of choice beef (ground daily), charcoal broiled to your taste, served on half a loaf French bread, with scads of melted cheese and special steak sauce. Included is a salad and French Fries. This, dear readers, is quite a repast. Its not on the menu—so you'll have to ask for it. Oh yes, may I suggest hot apple pie and sauce for dessert.

Rudolfo's, popular Continental restaurant in Palo Alto, has added a new item to the menu, Art's special No. 12, and they've added a cute new cocktail waitress to the staff—which makes for two very good reasons why business at Rudolfo's has practically tripled.

Hopes State Will Forgive

Edward E. Heavey, a former San Mateo resident who practices law in San Francisco, has high hopes that the State Bar will finally back him this year and make membership in the Communist party grounds for disbarment.

Heavey, 51, has had little success with his project in the past but has persisted nevertheless.

It was at the 1957 State Bar convention in Monterey that Heavey first introduced a resolution recommending that the state Business and Professions Code be amended to add membership in the Communist party to the list of reasons for disbarment. He has introduced the same resolution at each succeeding annual convention—with the same negative results.

The best showing the measure made was in 1960 in Los Angeles, when about a third of the membership voted for it

Heavey said he considers the locale of this year's convention in September— Disneyland in the heart of Orange County—as the most salubrious since 1957.

"The temper there is different than up here," he said. "I hope to do better there, and I might even win."

Heavey said his fellow lawyers who vote against the proposal ,say that present laws against subversion are adequate.

"But they have yet to disbar anyone for subversion," he declared.

Are there any Red lawyers in California?

"Yes," Heavey said. "A 1959 report by the House Unamerican Activities Committee gave the case histories of 39 lawyers who were members of the Communist party, and 23 of them were members of the State Bar of California."

Heavey said he considers Communist membership by attorneys a "grave menace," especially because they are eligible, by virtue of their profession, to become district attorney's and judges.

Heavey noted that some of his fellow lawyers have accused him of being in the "lunatic fringe."

"But I don't think I am," he said. "I belong to the American Legion, the Reserve Officers Association of the United States, I'm a registered Democrat and Brown supporter."

Sharp Curve In La Honda

Tom Hoogstratten, chief of the La Honda Volunteer Fire Brigade, has urged the State Division of Highways to take action to correct a sharp curve on Highway 84, 1⅛ miles north of La Honda.

In a telegram to the division, Hoogstratten notes that there have beeen "many" accidents at the curve in the past three weeks. One of the mishaps resulted in a death, he says.

Hoogstratten commented in his telegram that the accident area is known as "dead man's curve." He asks that if the state cannot take immediate action to correct the curve that it at least install warning signs for motorists.
